Board Wants Alternative Vote Studied

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Board of Trade has launched a protest against the proposed elimination of B.C.'s alternative voting system.

In a letter to Premier W. A. C. Bennett, the board urged the government to defer action "until a complete study of and report on election procedures has been made by a committee of the present members of the Legislature."

"We reiterate our belief in the system of alternative voting and urge consideration of the recommendations made, not only by the Vancouver Board of Trade but also by the B.C. Chamber of Commerce and by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce," the board told the premier.

The board also recommended study be given to possible elimination of the present absentee ballot procedure, reduction of time between issuance of a writ and the election, and consideration of a new method of setting up voters' lists.

Kansas City Family Hears No Word of Kidnaped Child

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Cold-blooded kidnapers, apparently adopting delaying tactics, today kept the fate of six-year-old Bobby Greenleaf from his anguished parents.

The child, son of a millionaire automobile dealer, was abducted two days ago while attending classes at the French Institute of Notre Dame de Sion, a private school.

A spokesman for the family said no contact with the person or persons holding the boy has been made. The father, Robert C. Greenleaf, has said he believes professional criminals are involved, making it more likely Bobby will be released unharmed.

Police reported they have obtained no new information that would lead them to believe they are on the right trail.

Greenleaf, through a banker friend, made arrangements to obtain cash at any time of the day or night should the need arise.

JOHNNY SAIN, winning pitcher

Yanks Win 9-5

NEW YORK (UP)—Joe Collins hit a seventh-inning home run to break a 5-5 tie and lead the New York Yankees to a 9-5 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the first game of the world baseball series today.

Billy Martin, the Yankees' aggressive second baseman, was the big gun in New York's four-run first inning. Billy tagged starter Carl Erskine for a three-run triple, a solid line drive that zoomed into right center. Earlier in the first, outfielder Hank Bauer tripled across the first Yankee run.

SEEK FIFTH STRAIGHT

The Yanks—out to become the first club ever to win five straight world series titles—put the frosting on the first game cake with a three-run eighth-inning spurge.

Winning pitcher Johnny Sain drove in two of those runs and scored the other.

Dodger fans among the 69,374 jammed into flag-draped Yankee Stadium this sunny, breezy afternoon had little reason to cheer until the fifth.

Then Junior Gilliam homered with one out.

In the sixth, the Dodgers really went to work and chased Reynolds. Gil Hodges, who had three hits on the day, homered into the left field stands.

That was Hodges' first hit in his last 24 world series times at bat.

Carl Furillo fled out, and Yankee fans breathed easier. But not for long.

Billy Cox, next up, singled to center, and the managerial wheels started spinning. Manager Chuck Dressen decided to send in George Shuba to pinch-hit for relief pitcher Jim Hughes.

And Shuba made the strategy look good with his first world series homer.

That's when Johnny Sain came on to relieve Reynolds. The tall, tobacco chewing Sain got the Yanks out of that jam without further scoring. But in the next inning the Dodgers tied it up to set the stage for Collins' home run.

Short score: N. Y. 9, B. 5. Brooklyn (N) 900 013 100—3 12 2 New York (A) 400 010 125—9 12 0 Erskine, Hughes (2), Lahine (5), Wade (7) and Campanella, Reynolds, Sain (6) and Berra.

No Neutrals, No Parley—Vishinsky

USSR Delegate Adamant

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Andrei Vishinsky told the United Nations today there is "no possibility" for a Korean political conference unless the UN reconsiders its decision barring neutral countries from taking part.

The chief Russian delegate referred to the decision last month to exclude neutrals from the conference, scheduled to open by Oct. 28.

He demanded that the 60-nation political committee immediately take up a debate on suggestions from Communist China and North Korea that India and other neutrals be invited and that Russia also be asked to sit in as a neutral.

He rejected a proposal by chief U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge that the conference could decide for itself whether to invite some neutral powers.

OPPOSED INVITATION

It will be impossible to give delegates the proper instructions, he declared, and charged that the countries which opposed an invitation to India and other neutrals will continue their opposition at the conference.

Referring to Allied claims that more debate here would disturb the prospects of a successful conference, Vishinsky asked:

"How can anyone say we should not disturb the peace conference if there is no peace conference?"

Before the meeting, Britain and the United States were confident they had enough votes to prevent reopening of debate on the question. Whether Vishinsky's warning on possible collapse of conference plans would have an adverse effect was not immediately apparent.

Piccards Descend 10,330 Feet Under Tyrrhenian Sea

OFF PONZA ISLAND, Italy (AP)—Professor Auguste Piccard and his son, Jacques, rode their 52-foot diving box, Trieste, deeper into the sea today than living man ever has gone—to a depth of almost two miles.

The Italian Navy said the Swiss-born scientist and his son touched the bottom of the Tyrrhenian Sea in the record plunge, equal to 10,330 feet.

The navy gave the time of the dive as two hours and 12 minutes. The 3,150-metre plunge would beat the record of two French naval officers by 1,600 metres.

Two Italian naval corvettes were standing by as the father and son dropped into the depths, culminating months of trials and frustrations in their stubby diving boat.

1,600 Gold Miners May Return to Work

Millard Will Send Men Back to Hollinger If Issues Are Submitted to Arbitration

TORONTO (BUP)—C. H. Millard, national director of the Steelworkers' Union, agreed today to ask 1,600 strikers to go back to work at the big Hollinger Gold Mine, provided its directors agreed to submit the issues to an arbitrator.

Jules Timmins, president of Hollinger, had already said he was ready to open the mine at any time. He had no immediate answer to Millard's request.

Millard said in a telegram to Labor Minister Charles Daley that he was referring Daley's request that the Hollinger strikers go back to work to the membership with "our advice that the proposals be accepted providing Mr. Timmins agrees in advance that the remaining issues of wages, hours and union security be immediately submitted to a mutually agreed-on arbitrator of national standing."

He also asked Daley to let him know in the meantime what steps were being taken, if any, to bring about settlements at Pampour and Aunor Mines, where the union is threatening to strike, and at five other strike-bound mines.

The union head had told Daley earlier that he was willing to hold off the Aunor and Pampour strikes if Daley wanted to "take steps to settle these disputes."

Warren Named Chief Justice

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today named Governor Earl Warren of California to be chief justice of the United States.

The President told his press conference the 62-year-old Warren, a Republican, will be on the bench of the high court when it opens its fall session Monday.

The recess appointment of Warren as successor to the late Chief Justice Fred Vinson is subject to Senate confirmation when Congress reconvenes in January. Vinson died of a heart attack Sept. 8.

Little Girl Struck At Douglas and Ralph

A three-year-old Saanich girl is in critical condition at Jubilee Hospital after being struck by a truck at 11 a.m. today, across the street from her home on Douglas Street at Ralph Avenue.

Little Sharon Carrington suffered serious internal injuries and a fractured leg.

Her condition was "poor" at press time. Eyewitnesses told police the truck, driven by William S. McPherson, 1825 Fairfield, was proceeding south on Douglas. The little girl, they said, was seated on steps on the west side of the road, and was struck when she stepped out onto the hard top.

The accident occurred directly across the street from her home, at 3937 Douglas. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Carrington, moved there recently.

The point where she was struck is about 50 feet from the intersection of Douglas and Ralph. Tire marks indicated the truck's brakes were applied quickly.

The truck is owned by James MacPherson, painter, father of the driver.

Neighbors said this morning the little girl had been carefully trained not to cross the road unaccompanied, and was usually obedient to instructions.

Her mother was in the house at the time, they said, believing that Sharon was playing in the back yard.

Saanich police rushed Sharon and her mother to hospital. Her father, a salesman, was making calls on behalf of his firm.

Forsaken-Looking Shop Proves Enchanting When Once Inside

Kondo (no one seems to know his first name) had his collection of authentic old wood block prints, and where he re-sold certain prints for the yen that gave him his daily bowl of rice.

We saw a raised floor covered with well-padded tatami. A small gold leaf screen shadowed with delicate traceries and one brocade cushion placed in front of the screen.

We sat on cushioned seats just below the edge of this floor. Yochi, who is writing stories of Japanese children, Vancouverite Mary Russell and me.

And when we were seated Mr. Kondo joined us, slipping through a curtain in the shadows at the rear of the store.

It was a hot day and he was dressed in a blue and white striped kimono. Spotlessly clean white tabs (Japanese split-toed socks worn indoors) were on his feet. He bowed to us then sat down on the cushion in one quick movement that placed him on his knees.

We spent a little time in quiet talk. About the relative values of good prints... The best artists, dead and alive. And how Mr. Kondo first became interested in the art.

He told us it had been planned that he learn the silk industry. But his father had a collection of old prints that he had learned to love from his childhood. One day, as he was nearing manhood, he penned an article about one of these prints... and being young and venturesome, decided to send it to an art magazine in Japan. It was accepted and printed with his picture, and his name.

China Rejects U.K. Protest On Ship Firing

TOKYO (UP)—Communist China today rejected the British protest against shelling of a Royal Navy patrol launch by a Red gunboat and countered with a protest of its own against what it termed "provocations and surprise attacks" by British ships and planes.

The text of the formal note of rejection from Chinese Vice-Foreign Minister Chang Han Hu to Humphrey Trevelyan, British charge d'affaires in Peking, was broadcast by the Red radio.

Seven Royal Navy men were killed Sept. 9 when the launch was attacked by the Communist gunboat near the mouth of the Pearl River off Hong Kong. Britain lodged a strong protest, claiming the launch was fired upon without cause while in international waters.

Peking asserted, however, that the incident actually happened inside the mouth of the Pearl River and that the Communist warship fired only in self defense. It said the British launch was flying "no national flag" and ignored a signal from the Red vessel.

"In view of the fact that private vessels long have harassed the waters in that locality," the note said, "the Communist patrol boat fired warning shots in the air."

Earworms Halt Tomato Canning Operations

LEAMINGTON, Ont. (UP)—The $5,000,000 yearly tomato canning operations halted here today because of an infestation of earworms.

Farmers said so many tomatoes had been rejected at loading stations and canning plants that they had stopped picking them. The H. J. Heinz Company said it would accept tomatoes but was not getting enough of good quality to keep its staff profitably occupied.

DOMINION BRIDGE STRIKE MAY SPREAD ACROSS NATION

TORONTO (CP)—C. H. Millard, national director of the United Steelworkers of America CIO-CCL, said today a strike at the Winnipeg plant of the Dominion Bridge Company will spread to the company's 10 plants across the country "within a few days" unless some basis of settlement is reached on the union's wage demands.

Some 700 workers struck Tuesday and today at the Winnipeg plants of the company and its subsidiary, the Manitoba Bridge Company.

Mr. Millard said workers at the Toronto and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., plants have already voted to give the union executive authority to strike. A final strike vote of the 1,300 workers at the Lachine, Que. headquarters plant is scheduled for next Tuesday.

Shipyard Unions Offered 2.5 Cents

Yarrows, VMD Proffer Joint Council Increase, Saturday Pay, Nine Holidays

Two Victoria shipyards, which originally entered into negotiations with six city unions with a proposal to cut wages on all new commercial work by 45 cents an hour, today offered a 2½-cent-an-hour increase over existing wages.

The offer, made by Yarrows and Victoria Machinery Depot to unions in the Joint Shipyard Council, includes double time for Saturday work and nine statutory holidays instead of eight.

It will be considered individually by member unions at their regular meetings.

In opening negotiations the unions had countered the employers' suggestions of a 45-cent cut on new commercial work with a request for a 25-cent boost.

Unions in the council are electricians, pipefitters, dock and shipyard laborers, riggers, moulders and CCL shipwrights.

Others involved in shipyard negotiations are six unions in the TLC Metal Trades Council, which includes boilermakers and CCL Machinists' Local 3.

About 2,000 men are affected. Most union contracts expire Oct. 15.

Only exception is the Boiler-makers' Local 191 whose contract expired July 31. A conciliation board sat last week to consider the union's request for parity wages with the highest-paid trade in the yards, and is expected to make its report this week.

Present wages in the yards

Incorporation of water improvement districts within municipalities is prohibited under legislation introduced in the Legislature Tuesday by Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers.

A bill amending the Water Act was given first reading by the House to provide for the new law.

The government takes the stand that formation of an improvement district for water works purpose within a municipality "conflicts with the policies of the municipality relative to the orderly development of this utility."

The government also introduced a bill to ensure women equal pay for equal work with men. This was previously announced in the Throne Speech.

Under this law an employer would be compelled to pay women the same money as men if doing equal jobs.

The Board of Industrial Relations is charged with the responsibility of enforcing the new law.

Maximum fine for an infraction is $100. The labor minister must give consent before prosecution proceedings can start.

The government re-introduced its bill permitting the lands and forests minister to compel owners of privately-owned logged-off lands to carry out reforestation.

The bill also gives the public the right to use logging roads on Crown lands under certain conditions.

Other bills transferred administration of the Coal Act and Petroleum and Natural Gas Act from the lands and forests department to the mines department.

The House gave second reading, which is approved in principle, to seven bills.

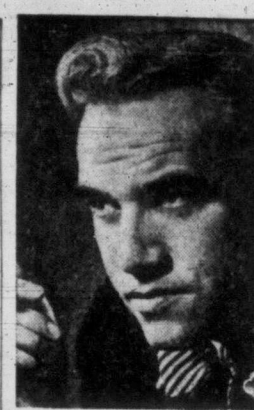

One was a bill legalizing the Doukhobors' "bread and salt" marriage ceremony. CCF Leader Arnold Webster said his party approved the move.

Another Doukhobor bill, setting up a commission to investigate the best method of re-selling land to the Doukhobors, failed to get second reading when Randolph Harding (CCF, Kaslo-Slocan), adjourned the debate.

Other bills were of less important nature—three bills giving authority to close sheriffs' offices, court house offices and land registry offices on Saturdays to give workers a five-day week in line with the rest of the civil service; a bill distributing an $18,000 B.C. Police reward fund, and a bill making some minor adjustments in the Vancouver city charter.

How they started: Irvine Corbett (SC, Yale), started his working career milking cows at Sumas Prairie. He is now a logging operator.

The first job held by George Tomlinson (SC, North Van.) was as an apprentice boiler-maker in Sheffield, England. He is now president of a heating and sheet metal firm.

Foreign Vessels Get Canadian Deep-Sea Cargoes

MONTREAL (UP)—Duckers loaded foreign freighters with piled-up cargo today as a deep-sea strike with no sign of a break halted Canada's merchant marine for the third day. "These cargoes (loaded) aboard foreign instead of Canadian ships" and the ones that follow will never return to a Canadian flag company," a spokesman said.

No company union talks have been scheduled since the S.U., which took over in Canada from the now-defunct, Communist-Canadian Seamen's Union five years ago, suddenly called the strike at noon Monday.

Every morning at 8.45 is "Roving Reporter" time on CKDA, and you'll enjoy Dave Armstrong, manager of Victoria's most popular station, saying "hello" to Victorians and visitors on the street. This informative program is heard daily on CKDA.

Trade Unions Hammer U.K. Labor Leftists

Enraged Deakin Quits Platform in Mid-Speech As Further Nationalization Policy Debated

MARGATE, Eng. (Reuters)—Britain's giant trade unions today crushed an attempt by left wingers to stampede the Labor Party's annual conference into sweeping

After an angry clash, the delegates voted down a proposal that many more industries should come under state ownership.

Figures were 4,990,000 votes against the proposal and 1,797,000 in favor under the card vote system by which the great trade unions were able to use the strength of their membership, dominant factor in the party.

Debate before the vote was heated. Angry delegates drummed their feet on the floor and shouted and booed in the middle of a fiery speech by trade union leader Arthur Deakin.

Flushed with anger, Deakin finally stomped off the speaker's rostrum with his speech unfinished. Before withdrawing, he roared that the trade union movement might be forced to break with the party.

The quarrel bore out forecasts that the issue of nationalization would produce clashes between the two rival factions of the party, the powerful trade union chiefs and the left-wingers who follow Aneurin Bevan.

The left wingers demand more state ownership of industry. The cautious trade unions will not agree to any further nationalization without deeper study of the position industry by industry.

Newspapers Correct in Keeping Faith With Sources, Court Told

A generally accepted rule is that newspapers are not obliged to disclose their source of information. D. N. Hossie, QC, told the B.C. Court of Appeal here Tuesday at a hearing of two interlocutory appeals involved in a libel suit brought by Gordon Wismer, QC, former attorney-general.

Mr. Hossie is acting as counsel for MacLean-Hunter Publishing Co. Ltd., and journalist Blair Fraser, defendants in the suit.

Mr. Wismer alleges libel arising out of an article by Mr. Fraser entitled "B.C. Coalition Commits Suicide," which appeared in the February 15, 1952, issue of MacLean's Magazine.

NEEDED NOW—The present appeals are against judgments of two Supreme Court justices ordering the defendants to disclose in advance to Mr. Wismer's lawyers where they obtained the "particulars" for the article. While the case has not yet gone to trial, J. W. deB. Farris, QC, counsel for Mr. Wismer, wants this information before the case proceeds any further.

"B.C. liquor laws forbid the sale of spirits by the glass. A legal way around this is the establishment of private clubs for the thirsty. In one such the annual membership fee is a dime; others run as high as $2. Most of the club licenses are held by friends of Wismer, several of whom worked their way up from humble beginnings by diligent service in the Vancouver Centre Liberal Association."

SHOULD AWAIT TRIAL

Mr. Hossie objected to his clients being made to disclose these facts, claiming that the law did not oblige newspapers to disclose the source of their information. He also argued that certain facts should only be made known at the trial.

Mr. Hossie then read the words which Mr. Wismer complained of and which resulted in the libel suit.

SEEKING CAUSE

Commenting on Mr. Blair's story, Mr. Hossie described it as "a general article in which the writer is searching for the cause of the break-up of the Coalition government."

"Mr. Fraser does not say in his article that anything is wrong," he added.

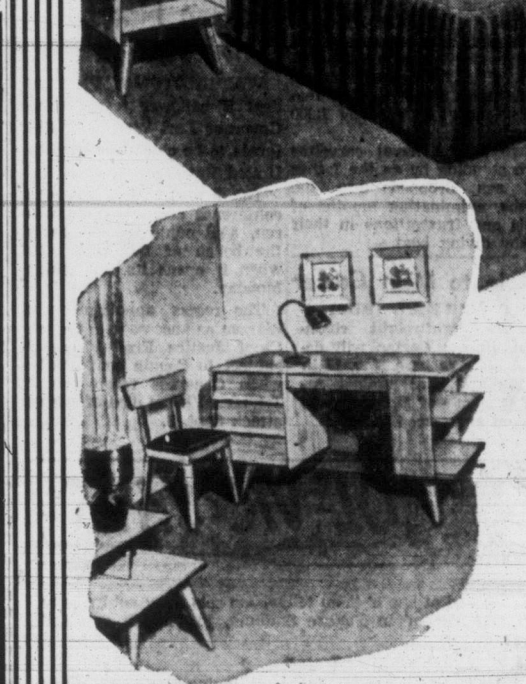

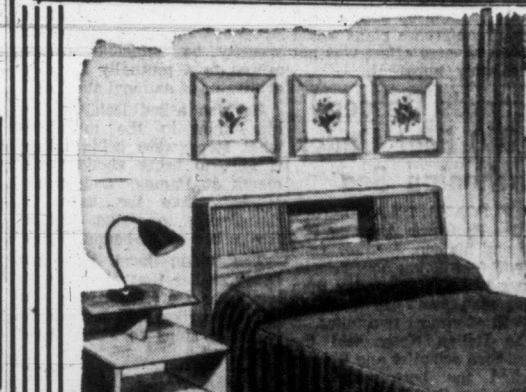

The lawyer pointed out that the plaintiff's counsel wanted Mr. Fraser to disclose the names of the "rebels" in the former Coalition party.

"To give this information would involve the disclosure of information," pleaded the lawyer.

The appeal is continuing.

Diefenbaker Asks Paid Help For Opposition

Leading Tory Would Arm Members With Facts to Flay Government

Research assistants should be provided opposition members in the House of Commons, John G. Diefenbaker, MP for Prince Albert, Sask., and No. 2 man of the Progressive Conservative Party, told a dinner meeting at the University of Saskatchewan.

Speaking at the inaugural meeting of the Saskatchewan PC Association, Mr. Diefenbaker said a tremendous amount of research work had to be done by opposition members if they were to check thoroughly into government affairs, and to offer constructive criticism on government proposals.

He said through research into all phases of government work was becoming increasingly difficult.

Party in Power Has Advantage

He said government members got all the help they needed while in Ottawa. He said it was not unusual for government members to have their speeches prepared by someone else. Sometimes, he said, members stood up to read speeches without knowing what they were going to talk about.

Mr. Diefenbaker said this was to be expected since the private government members had lost their independence.

"They might just as well elect the cabinet and not send the private members down there at all," Mr. Diefenbaker asserted.

"Parliament is a sham today; just a caricature of what it should be. Parliament today is simply an institution to vote supply."

This situation, he said, had been brought about through election of a too-powerful Liberal government, and a small, divided opposition force.

IN THE HOUSE

BY GORDON FORBES

Somebody with some influence must have whispered in government members' ears that their speeches have been too long.

On Tuesday there was a refreshing change when two Senators spoke for only 40 minutes each and the House got down to more law-making.

Now if somebody could only persuade the opposition members to trim their talks, the House could soon get down to more law-making.

Sacred members all have their favorite glowing description of their leader. John Tisdalle (SC, Saanich) told the House:

"Premier Bennett is the Mr. Gibraltar of democracy in B.C."

"I might add he built himself up to such a fortress by using the rocks of contention thrown by the opposition."

William Chant (SC, Victoria) has a favorite word which crops into his talk consistently. It's the word "concept."

The tone of Mr. Chant's voice is somewhat like a clergyman at times.

"Suicide Alley" was Saanich's Mr. Tisdalle's explanation of the Patricia Bay highway.

"It's the fastest way to go slow, I know of," he said.

Mr. Tisdalle thought it's about time "we woke up" on the matter of highways around Victoria.

Vatican Paper Says Cardinal 'New Victim of Moscow'

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican City weekly newspaper Osservatore Della Domenica said today Polish Roman Catholic Cardinal Wysynski was "a new victim of Moscow."

Denouncing the action of the Polish Communist government in taking the cardinal to an undisclosed place and forbidding him to exercise his religious duties, the newspaper said he is the third cardinal "imprisoned by the enemies of liberty."

It referred to Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary, serving a life prison term in Hungary, and Aloisius Cardinal Stepinac, restricted to forced provincial residence in Yugoslavia.

The Polish government, the newspaper said, is determined to "subdue and sweep away" religious conscience by means of "perfidious lies and violence."

B.C. Industries Feel Pinch of IWA Strike

VANCOUVER (BUP)—British Columbia industries started to feel the pinch of halting lumber shipments today as a strike by 3,000 members of the International Woodworkers of America entered its third day.

Lumber movements, except for shipments already in the hands of the railroads, came to a stop Monday morning when the strike started. The strike vote came after a break-in contract negotiations between the IWA and the Northern Interior Lumbermen's Association.

At least one oil company which supplies lumber mills with fuel laid off some workers Tuesday and put others on shortened hours. Railroads employed at hauling the lumber also were expected to go on shorter hours. Other industries allied with the giant lumber industry were expected to follow suit.

ROTATION DATE SET FOR 27TH

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canadian troops who faced the Communists in Korea's shooting war will soon be in Germany to face the Reds on the main front of the cold war.

The army announced Tuesday that many of the men who served with the 25th Brigade in Korea will be among the 10,000 soldiers involved in a rotation of troops between Germany and Canada starting Oct. 21.

Most of the units which served with the original 25th Brigade will be moved to Germany for service with North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces.

U.S. Woman Explores Isle Where Females Rule Roost

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—An American woman explorer left today for "Death Island," a disease-ridden, dot off Formosa where women rule.

The tiny island is one of the least known in this part of the world, even though it lies but 50 miles off the southeast coast of densely-populated Formosa.

Its real name is Botel Tobago, 16 square miles inhabited by aborigines known as Yami Yuamis.

Divorce is common on Botel Tobago and women—some of whom have gone through 10 to 15 husbands—rule the roost. They are picky in choosing their mates and usually scorn the homely ones. Men with poor fishing records also stand little chance of getting a wife.

The women even get the best fish, which along with taro and sweet potato, are the natives' main foodstuffs.

Formosans rarely go there because of its high disease rate. Only a few small ships visit yearly.

While every one of the island's 1,429 inhabitants are reported to have malaria, a small bug whose bite causes death within hours is the chief killer. Thus the name "Death Island."

Mrs. Carveth Wells, wife of a well-known American explorer, left for the island aboard a Nationalist Chinese ship to study the natives for the American Museum of Natural History.

Fishpacker Aground Near Oyster Bay; 3-Man Crew Safe

VANCOUVER (CP)—Owners of a 64-foot Vancouver fishpacker hope to refloat the vessel on high tide at noon today after she ran aground on a sandy beach near Oyster Bay, Vancouver Island, during the night.

Lindsay E. Moir, manager of Western Fishing Co. Ltd., owners of the vessel Palmarsyl, said there is no apparent damage to the packer's hull.

Her three-man crew is safe and will remain aboard until the attempt to refloat the boat.

There is no death

"For many years," says Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, "I have been recording a series of incidents which bear out the conviction that life, not death, is the basic principle of our universe."

October Reader's Digest brings you a condensed excerpt from Dr. Peale's best-seller, "The Power of Positive Thinking." The famed religious leader tells why he profoundly believes there are two sides to the phenomenon known as death: this side where we now live, and the other side where we shall continue to live.

No Relief in Sight

IN FRAMING ITS FUTURE financial policies the provincial government should observe the figures coming out of Ottawa. They do not suggest any early relief from the present high scale of federal taxes. Hence any new provincial taxes like the proposed taxes on the timber and mineral industries—probably must be levied on top of the present federal scale. In advancing into new tax fields the provincial government cannot expect the federal government to retreat.

Underlying these problems and most other problems of the current world is the cost of defence. Three years ago the Canadian Parliament approved a defence build-up which would last three years and cost $5 billions. When the three years end next March 31 more than that will have been spent. The cost will exceed estimates by something like half a billion dollars. But the original goals set by the defence services will not have been reached.

It is clearly indicated in Ottawa, therefore, that the present defence budget of about $2.1 billions will have to continue in the next fiscal year. Unless the world climate changes it may have to continue much longer than that.

In this business the Canadian government has pursued a steady and consistent course. It refused to attempt more than the nation could afford and it refused also to cut its defence spending, as some other nations have done, at the first whisper of conciliation from Russia.

The United States, on the other hand, having shouldered a gigantic defence burden and carried most of the cost of the Korean war in blood and treasure, had no sooner reduced its military appropriations this year than it was compelled to reconsider its basic planning in the light of Russia's hydrogen bomb.

Canada also will have to consider the facts of world power as changed by that discovery and, in considering them, is not likely to find any immediate reason for reducing its defence budget. And so long as it remains at its present level the prospects of any substantial tax relief will be slight.

Fortunately the government, under the pressures of a national election, refused to promise such relief. The voters re-elected it, knowing that no such promise was given, knowing that defence comes high and cannot be escaped.

In bearing these essential costs the taxpayers undoubtedly expect their provincial and municipal governments to hold their taxes at a minimum, since all taxes come out of the same collective pocket.

Sense and Nonsense

TWO WEEKS AGO BRITISH Columbia's legislators and the public galleries heard Ray Williston, government member from Fort George, talk sense about this province's education.

Mr. Williston, drawing on his experience as a school inspector, outlined some of the problems facing the teaching profession, the students and the system in general.

His remarks did much to rid his party of the odium attached to its educational outlook by the Reid faction during the spring session. People who have concerned themselves seriously with education in this province were encouraged by his words to hope that criticism would be lifted from the status of superficial "pop-offs."

That constructive impression has been shaken by the maiden speech of Mrs. Lydia Arsenault. Her contribution to educational criticism showed Reidism to a marked degree. She has defended the Salmon Arm back-bencher whose opinions the Social Credit Premier and minister of education were not prepared to stomach publicly, whatever the Premier may have said in semi-private endorsement of the Reid ideas.

In the days ahead more legislative discussion may be expected on education. But if the Premier wishes to avoid actual harm being done to the system and more unjustified discredit thrust upon those engaged in its operations, he will see to it that criticism stems from a base of knowledge, not ignorance. He is fortunate in having Mr. Williston to perform that task. And if the member from Fort George has time, it might be profitably employed in explaining to his fellow party members the facts of British Columbia education, the obvious problems confronting educationists and the efforts being made to solve them.

In the interests of provincial well-being the superficial and unsubstantiated blasts against the school system might be deposited, without loss, in a fourth disposal receptacle, to be towed to sea and dumped on an outgoing tide.

This Needs Your Approval

THE UNUSUAL NUMBER OF polio cases in Greater Victoria this year has brought home a realization that the isolation facilities at Royal Jubilee Hospital have become inadequate for a community of this size.

Originally designed to provide for 20 beds, the ward has been seriously overcrowded in recent weeks. The accommodation may have been sufficient when Victoria and district had half the present population. The current polio outbreak, by no means in the category of an epidemic, has shown up the weak spot in an otherwise excellent public hospital. Built 45 years ago, the isolation structure today is obsolete from every standpoint.

Mr. George Masters, administrator, has indicated that when the existing emergency is over he will press for an entire new isolation annex. Obviously, this is a move that should be supported by every citizen of the area. The proper operation of the great hospital demands it. When the project reaches the stage of a by-law, every voter should see that family and community are protected with the best that modern science has evolved.

That B.E.G. Pool

WHEN PLANS WERE announced for the new British Empire Games swimming pool, which must be constructed in Vancouver for the Commonwealth sports meet next year, the suggestion was advanced that the University of British Columbia campus should be the site.

Several arguments were put forward to support that location. Among them was the simple statement of fact that since provincial funds were to be spent, the university, which young people from all parts of British Columbia attend, should have the pool for the use of future students. Provincial money would be going into a provincial institution.

More recently Vancouver swimming interests had apparently applied sufficient pressure to switch the site for the pool. They favored a more central location.

Now, however, it appears that the parks board, which presumably would take over the facilities when the Games are completed, doubts its ability to pay for the enclosure of the pool. Unless it is enclosed, the tank will be without value except in the summer months.

As a consequence of the financial hurdle, the pool may be turned back to the university. This, surely, is where it belongs and where it will give provincial, rather than narrowly municipal service.

Victims of Disaster

JUST OVER A MONTH AGO newspaper readers throughout the world were shocked to hear of earthquake disasters which claimed a heavy toll in Greek lives, left hundreds seriously injured and thousands without homes.

The immediate sympathy aroused by the reports found expression in the quick response to relief funds set up at that time. In Victoria unfortunate circumstances delayed establishment of collecting centres.

Those centres are now established. Banks are accepting donations and business proprietors who belong to the Greek community here are soliciting assistance for their countrymen.

The delay in the appeal is reflected in a relatively tardy response. But if the news of the disasters in Greece have been crowded off the front pages of the world's press, the mute plea of those who have been stricken continues. Help is needed for those who have suffered a cruel blow of fate, for honest people in an allied country, for the old and the shattered towns and for the children and young people who are homeless.

Victorians serve humanity as they respond to that plea now.

Last Ruse of Summer

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

THE other day there was a bloke over on the mainland writing about the Doukhobors. Nor was he unique—quite a few blokes have been writing about Doukhobors. But he was slightly unusual in suggesting that "after all, they are hard-working, God-fearing people whose real crime is that of pushing Christianity too far." Those are mighty polite phrases for arson and dynamiting. Not to mention attempted murder, which is what blowing up railways amounts to. How's that for non-violence and turning the other cheek? Or, more briefly, how's that for chips?

They are unique in this age of political persecution, since their revolt is inspired by religion. They are closer in spirit to the founding fathers of North America than to those who have made it worldly. These two sentences require two volumes of answers. In fact, they require a liberal education. But we can cheer ourselves slightly with the following few points:

1. There is nothing unique today about religious persecution and religious revolt. Communism is now almost entirely religious. It demands more faith and crazier faith and loss of self than any other religion. And in power it persecutes, and out of power it is a religious revolt.

2. I suppose by the "founding fathers of North America" our bloke means the Puritan Pilgrims of New England, and not the French in Quebec and Nova Scotia or the non-Puritan English in Virginia and elsewhere, or the Spaniards. I had a number of ancestors among the quite early pilgrims, including some in Plymouth Colony itself, so perhaps I should pretend that the pilgrims were a fine bunch. But as a cousin of mine has remarked in his history of our family, "We may as well face the bitter truth, and I hope I am far enough from New England to be able to utter it with impunity: Massachusetts was settled by a mass of unrelieved mediocrity, led temporarily and spiritually by some of the purest, nastiest men of God that even Calvinism ever produced."

As for persecution, the pilgrims did not come to Massachusetts as the victims of persecution. They were all in favor of persecution, and continued to indulge in it long after crossing the sea. Some of them are still doing it, more than 300 years later, both in Canada and the U.S.A.

They left England because most of the English did NOT believe in religious persecution of non-Puritans, and this tolerance drove the Puritans wild. It is true that their actions in England aroused a good deal of counter-action. And why not? Their true nature became obvious (if it wasn't obvious before) when they were completely their own masters in their own colony. As many a Puritan immigrant found to his astonishment on arriving there in the late 1620's and early 1630's.

Anyone with a small speck of independence or tolerance fled from Massachusetts (thus narrowing the bigotry of the remaining population still more). Rhode Island was one of the more congenial spots to which they escaped.

STILL, I've not heard of arson and dynamiting among the pilgrims, either before leaving England or after founding Massachusetts. (Yes, I know dynamite was invented by Mr. Nobel, another pioneer who also loved Peace. I also know the Doukhobors are probably using a different powder. But dynamiting is a legitimate verb for exploding things.)

My bloke on the mainland said quite a lot of other things. For example, he says that Quebec is in much the same position as the Doukhobors. That is, to say, for religious reasons it seeks to be exempted from common schooling, military service, taxes, "and so on." (Wait till they hear this in Quebec!) But because we have plenty of French-Canadians they get away with it, while because we have only two thousand Doukhobors we clap these into jail. (What, two thousand in jail? And peaceable Doukhobors along with the Sons of Freedom?) I've never heard of arson and dynamiting in Quebec. Nor, among the Doukhobors, have I heard of such regiments as the Van Dooos or such universities as Laval.

Not much more room here, chums. But I must include a quotation that will certainly create a pause in the day's occupations that is known as the Children's Hour. "What possesses them (the Doukhobors) is a vital Christian passion for which many of us worldlings are still seeking the transcendent substitute." Fond though I am of wild and sweeping statements, I think we might admit that just as some Doukhobors are more passionate than others, so are some more Christian than others. And as for seeking substitutes for the Christian passion of destroying other people's property, that should be an easy quest.

WALKING COMPANION

This letter is written in the hope it may be read by an active, possibly retired, gentleman of a happy, cheerful disposition who is still fond of walking exercise, and who is undergoing loneliness, and would welcome congenial companionship once or twice a week whilst walking, perhaps in the park, or along one of our seafronts.

There is within our city a gentleman, now almost totally blind, who for a number of years occupied a highly responsible outdoor position in the service of our Federal Government, a widely read and most interesting man over 70 years of age, who, but for blindness, enjoys the best of health.

Having lost his life partner last year, he is now living alone in one room, indeed a tragic position for one who is so blind. He would readily be accepted, as a resident in the new beautiful Queen Elizabeth Hall for the Blind in Vancouver, but like many of us who love Victoria, he is loath to leave.

Anyone who would care to meet this gentleman is requested to phone, write or call and the fullest details will be gladly given.

HE WANTS TO KNOW

I would like to know why the two sports editors of the local daily papers can't understand J. McLeod being booted at the last game when he was about to present the Mann Cup to Peterborough Trailermen. (Could it be something having to do with rotating of referees?)

Why was Powless not booted when he received his Mike Kelly award? (Could it be that he is a wonderful player and kept it clean?) O'Hearn please note.

Why was it necessary for McLeod to go to the Pete's dressing room after the third quarter and Gill had been injured and to tell the Pete's to play lacrosse or else? (or else what?) I for one never heard of a president of any association entering the dressing room of a team playing in a game. It could be classed as intimidation or consolation.

Why did McLeod go to the referees Greenwood and Fulka and congratulate them on their handling of the game then say the referees would be rotated and "Effective Living" in its simply wonderful end up with Dickinson and Wilkes in the final game? (I am not taking anything away from any of the referees they did a swell job and Fulka could probably be made keeper of the keys in this town.)

Why was Severson a disappointment in the Mann Cup series? (He was a marked man before the Pete's left to come west, and the same goes for other outstanding players on the Rocks. It would have been much kinder to a man who kept the spirit of the team up with his display of guts to say that he was checked into the floor than to quote as one SE did.)

Why don't we have "Victoria Lacrosse Book of Fame" and enter there the names of all the Rocks including Byford, Landess and Old Spud.

Who pays to enter the arena to see these games and keep the game alive? Is it not the general public? And as they pay they are entitled to boo, cheer, and clap or show their approval of a game well played and clean.

Why don't the Rocks start a debating society just like the Pete's? Then they could come out on the floor during an argument.

Why the executive of the Rocks did not show more spirit in backing the team? Did they not expect them to get by the Pilseners?

In concluding I say thanks to the Rocks' team, trainers, executive and one and all you were good in victory but much better in defeat to a team better in skilled players but not in sportsmanship.

"SEASON TICKETS"

ACCENTING THE POSITIVE

In his talks in the Legislature and his writings elsewhere, Mr. R. G. Williston, Social Credit member for Fort George, has drawn attention to the shortage of qualified teachers in British Columbia and has raised certain questions over the cause of that shortage.

As first vice-president of the B.C. Teachers' Association and as chairman of the newly-formed B.C. Teachers' public relations committee, may I offer some comments on his views?

It has been our feeling for some time that too much of the negative aspect has been emphasized and enlarged with regard to the teaching profession. Granted, there have been times in the not too distant past when many of these things were altogether too true. We feel that the condition today in the teaching profession is such that it merits the attention of parents and students alike for consideration that it might well become a life work for our young people.

I agree with Mr. Williston wholeheartedly that new buildings are only part of the answer in education today. I think that the unprecedented increase in school population warrants much new building, and there is perhaps much to come. However, the backbone of any school is the instructing staff, or plainly the teacher. Without inspired, trained and interested teachers these buildings will be a hollow mockery.

We feel that no profession offers more opportunity nor a better financial reward with such security and wonderful public service than the teaching profession. There is no profession where you may earn while you learn with high school and Normal training as a background and a starting salary of $2,000 per year and an increment system that builds up to something over $3,000. This, together with the natural advancements made with professional improvements, a reasonably short year of work, a gift-free and tax-free pension, the absolute lack of any overhead—rental, advertising, equipment, supplies, lighting, heating, bad debts or the hiring of any personnel—altogether with the wonderful public service inherent in the teaching profession, and the high plane of public acceptance of the importance of the teaching profession would make it obvious to me that, were these facts generally known through a broad field of publicity, many more of our finest high school and college graduates would feel for themselves, and be encouraged by their parents to enter the teaching profession so that shortly our teacher shortage would cease to be the serious problem that we know it is today.

R. H. REEVE

The recent vapourings of Mrs. Lydia Arsenault in the session should be wonderful material for our talented cartoonists. Just imagine the "material" they could use depicting naughty little boys and girls armed with paint brushes and cans of paint. What a wonderful time the school teachers would have and what would the master painters' union have to say about it? Also visions of Greater Victoria citizens wielding sledge hammers to "flatten" tins in the garbage cans and separate all garbage. "Effective Living" It's simply wonderful! One might ask the question why waste the time of an expensive Legislative session with such drivel.

FOR MEANS TEST

In the Victoria Daily Times of September 25, an editorial, "Strange Mathematics," clearly shows the impossibility of raising the pension to every citizen attaining the age of 70. What should be done is that the "means test" as used by the B.C. Old Age Assistance Board be instituted by the federal government to raise the old age pension to those in need, more in line with today's cost of living.

What need is there for everyone at 70 to receive a pension from any government irrespective of his circumstances? It only robs the incentive to strive to obtain a competence and to save for harder times; whereas those who have passed the means test have shown that their need is through no fault of theirs, at least in most cases. Then and not until then it might be feasible for the government to study the possibility of health insurance.

FROM THE MOLESTED

May I, through the medium of your columns, say how grateful I am to all, including the police, who gave help to me in the early Saturday morning (Sept. 19) nightmarish but true incident in which I was involved.

(The writer was molested at the door of the Senator Hotel, but was released when her screams frightened away her assailants.)

It all happened very quickly and with much furtiveness and stealthiness I believe, skeptics to the contrary, I such tactics are those of a decidedly dangerous type.

I am sure many high minded men and women, especially the mothers and fathers-of-little-ones, the special prey of these sex maniacs, are deeply concerned in what has become a matter calling for stricter legislation in dealing with these two-fisted fly-by-night dim wit gorillas. I pray to see the day when incarceration in a mental institution and not just a jail term will be given.

Then and only then will mothers be able to breathe more freely when their children are walking home from school or with other little playmates. Our future citizens of Canada deserve to be safeguarded.

Making the Meaning Clear

Montreal Star

SOME time ago either Mr. Malik or Mr. Vishinsky paid Mr. Pearson the compliment of saying that when he talked the Soviet listened. The implication of this was that Canada not only had something to say but was forthright and honest in saying it.

The Soviet representatives must have recalled their observation when Mr. Pearson spoke in the current United Nations debate. For he made a forthright and honest statement of this country's policy with regard to Korea.

There were implications in his speech for the United States as well as for the Communists, implications that stem from the earlier debate in which it seemed that some American proposals were advanced as a result of prior agreement with Syngman Rhee, the stubborn president of South Korea. Mr. Pearson makes it clear that if commitments were made that contemplate the use of force to unify Korea, Canada will have none of them. This is what he said:

"So far as the Canadian government is concerned, we will not support any military action in Korea that is not United Nations action, and we would be opposed to any attempt to interpret existing United Nations objectives as including the unification of Korea by force. On the other hand, we are aware that the signing of the armistice does not discharge us from obligations we have already taken in Korea as a member of the United Nations."

There can be little doubt about the meaning here. Canada is concerned to keep the Korean issues on their original basis. We went along with the United Nations to halt aggression. Our contribution, as Mr. Claxton, the minister of defense, said here the other day, was a contribution to a police action, not to a war against the Communists. That does not say that we should not go to war with the Communists if such a war resulted from their aggression, but in connection with Korea our commitment is a commitment limited by the purposes of United Nations action there.

ARCHITECTURAL

An architect does have to spread his interests wide, he does have to have—what shall we say?—one foot in the concrete-mixer and one in the studio, and therefore he is a man, I think, who perhaps uses his head, heart and hands in more equal teamwork than perhaps any other sort of artist.

Haul-Up Time

THE big blue-heron that fished all summer in the shallows of low tide below the shore rocks, stands aloof on the small island rising from the high water of the bay. The gulls, still now after their raucous foraging, crowd, hunched and uncertain on the lee of a great granite boulder.

On the bank, the boatman rests from his haul-up labors. This is the time when he takes his small launch from its mooring and with winch and manpower lifts it high above the threat of winter's storms.

The water drips from the beard-grass growing along the keel and the boatman wonders if the improved anti-fouling compounds developed by science in recent years are as good as the copper paint he used to slap on the hull below the waterline.

He notes the small gouge in the planking where he misjudged a beach landing during summer and scraped a barnacle rock.

He looks out to sea and mountain and sky, grey in mourning for the season that is dead, and pictures days afloat that have grown into memories.

CALENDAR OF THE SEASON

It is a simple and satisfying calendar the boatman turns back. He recalls the day of May launching, when the small craft, green and glistening white, went back to sea, a shining thing reflecting hours of scraping, sanding and painting during long winter evenings under shelter. He remembers the small excitement of trying the new carburetor that gave flexibility to speed, slowing the boat for trolling, stepping it up for the quick run home.

His mind turns to the patterns of water in the Strait, the bouncing cross-chop of the rip, throwing up short irregular waves, miniature peaks that lift quickly from all directions, and the glassy, deceptive sheen of slick where underwater currents roll, bubbling up at the edges of smooth sheets, dotted irregularly with whirlpools.

He pictures the kelp, clean and shining, as it stunts under the pull of the race like wheat stalks in the wind, and in his mind's eye he sees the steady passage of driftwood, logs and crates riding the river that tide makes in the sea.

He remembers days of quiet calm, with long, low waves sliding in from a passing steamer, and the lazy roll of porpoises surfacing to sigh out their breath.

The boatman conjures up pictures of the shoreline from the deep water, seeing logs silvered by the sun and weather, rocks glistening black where the sea strikes them, and the thin line of greenish white where waves cascade on the shingle beach and draw back silently.

FLIGHT PATTERNS

He hears the quarrelsome argument of murres, clustered with their young over a school of shiners, and picks up the flashing flight pattern of turnstones inshore, looping from the water line and back to the beach in the quick, darting mass movement that heliographs their passage.

He hears the whistling wings of ducks in the afterglow of evening and sees the quiet purposeful flight of gulls to their roosting grounds.

The boatman visualizes these sights and sounds of months recently gone, counts the pleasures of a season that has passed and turns again to the job of hauling up his boat. He blocks it in place and prepares for the work he will do on seams and planks and paint under cover while rain slashes down outside and storms lash a grey-green, inhospitable sea.

FUN WITH FIGURES

By J. A. H. HUNTER

Mrs. Green is quite tired of accumulating odd saucers; it is always the cups which are broken in her household. Now she has bought some plain white cups and saucers for ordinary use, but more of the former than of the latter; in any case they'll be easy to replace. The cups cost her 66 cents each, but she paid 19 cents apiece for the saucers; her total outlay was $9.06. How many saucers did she buy?

Tuesday's answer: His promise will cost Ann's father $9.06.

PRAIRIE ROUND-UP

Retail Credit in Sask. Near Exhaustion Due to Grain Glut

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Wheat Board was told Tuesday that retail credit in Saskatchewan is being stretched to the breaking point because farmers are not receiving enough cash to pay bills due to their inability to deliver grain to plugged elevators.

The report was made in a brief to the board by the Saskatchewan Retail Merchants Association, which suggested two methods of alleviating the situation by paying farmers for farm-stored grain.

R. E. Walker, SRMA secretary-manager, who has just completed a tour of his province, said the retail merchants are in difficulties because of the grain glut.

Mr. Walker said the merchants' credit has been advanced to the limit. Farmers' payments of bills had dropped to a trickle and were in direct relationship to present wheat deliveries. The current wheat delivery quota on the Prairies is three bushels to the acre.

FORMER MLA DEAD

CALGARY (CP)—Robert Pelham Bassard, 65, a member of the Saskatchewan legislature for Biggar constituency for eight years, died here Monday.

Born at Portage la Prairie, Man., he moved to Biggar in 1908 and operated a farm, a garage and a hotel business for 38 years.

Ottawa Citizen's Morning Edition Ends After Today

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Ottawa Citizen announced today that it would suspend morning publication after today and merge the morning edition with the Evening Citizen.

Officials of the Southern Publishing Company said the consolidation would permit the firm to "concentrate all our efforts on the production of a better and more complete newspaper."

GENEROUS HEART IS A HAPPY HEART

FROM WASHINGTON

By STEWART ALSOP

A Matter of Survival

IN the last few weeks, and especially since the President's return from his vacation, there has been a tremendous coming and going in Washington, an undercurrent of excitement, a sense of being on the eve of great decisions.

Last Thursday, the National Security Council held its most publicized meeting since it was formed. The purpose of this meeting—to consider the Soviet air-atomic threat to the U.S.—was well reported. Two speeches, the first by the Secretary of State and the second by the President, served to highlight the importance of the meeting.

Secretary Dulles told the United Nations that the means had been discovered to "wipe life off the surface of this planet." And, he added darkly, "these words can be taken literally."

President Eisenhower, in his Boston speech, stated that "the enemies of freedom are equipped with the most terrible weapons of destruction." He told the country that "there is no sacrifice—no labor, no tax, no service—too hard for us to bear" in order to deal with this threat.

Meanwhile, plans for "Operation Candor" have been under constant review. A "White House source" officially confirmed that the president had decided that it was time for the people to know the truth. This source even volunteered that the public release of the motion picture of the explosion of the world's first hydrogen bomb was being considered.

The significance of this is suggested by the fact that the mere existence of this terrifying movie, which shows the total disappearance of a large island under the bomb's impact, had previously been the toppest of top secrets.

Since the final decisions have not been taken, it is too early to say what manner of animal all this laboring of mountains may produce. But it begins to seem that the end result may be a mouse—a rather large mouse, but a mouse all the same.

Obviously, all the evidence rather clearly suggested that the country was to be asked to embark on a great national effort to build up the defenses of the continent. In fact, one firm decision appears to have been taken. An attempt will be made to build an effective early warning system against air-borne attack.

This system seems likely to be established on the so-called McGill line across northern Canada, with extra protection provided by radar-equipped picket ships on the Pacific and Atlantic flanks.

An early warning system was the first step towards an effective continental defense recommended by the Project Lincoln group, and all the committees which have followed it. Such a system, when complete, will provide warning for our great target cities so that evacuation, at least, may be attempted.

It will also greatly increase the effectiveness of our totally inadequate existing air defense. It will, moreover, be relatively cheap. At least for the first year, the cost of the radar installations alone should be no more than a fraction of a billion dollars.

Manpower, not money, is now the real limiting factor. The air force, like the other services, is reaching the bottom of the post-Korea manpower barrel. It is no use buying a lot of equipment if there are not enough trained men to use it.

There is no doubt a certain cogency in these matters. Yet they amount to accepting a Soviet capability to devastate the United States in the rather near future. The final decision rests, of course, with the President. As he ponders all the difficulties—technical, fiscal, human—the political he might well be in mind the words of an old friend, "Survival," Winston Churchill remarked during the war, "can be an end in itself."

Gale Storm Busy Wife

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How can a TV and radio star maintain a normal family life and stick to a schedule that would tire a lumberjack?

That's the problem that faced Gale Storm when the program "My Little Margie" happened along and changed her life a year ago.

The show came up when she was a full-time wife and mother and part-time actress. Now the situation is reversed.

When she's making TV films, she's up at 5:30 in the morning six days a week. Between the spurts of film production, she records the air show with her costar, Charles Farrell.

"I'm busy, all right," sighs Gale.

"I may be rationalizing—I'm an expert at that—but I think all this activity is good for my family.

"When I do have time to devote to my boys, I can give my full attention to it. A lot of full-time mothers see their kids so much that they never really appreciate them.

"And because I am so busy, the boys get more companionship from their father than other boys generally do. That's all to the good."

The boys are Phillip, 10, Peter, 7, and Paul, 6. Their father is Lee Bohnell, who gave up a limping film career to become a crack insurance salesman.

"I'm really lucky in having a husband who has been in the business and understands the demands it makes," said Gale. "He gets as much satisfaction from the show's success as I do. There aren't many husbands who would be as thoughtful and considerate in such a situation."

Gale admitted that the whirlwind routine sometimes gets her down. At such times, her husband has a ready answer.

"You may get tired from working so hard, dear," he reminds her, "but remember how unhappy you were when nobody would give you a job."

No Forestry Probe Planned at Present

The provincial government is not "at present" planning to appoint a Royal Commission to investigate the forest problems in B.C.

This was the answer given Tuesday by Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers in reply to a question placed on the order paper by Frank Howard (CCF, Skeena).

Churchill, Eden Both Back on Job Today

LONDON (Reuters) — The British government's first team returns to full strength today for the first time in seven months.

Prime Minister Churchill will fly home from a vacation on the French Riviera. Another plane will bring Anthony Eden, foreign secretary and deputy premier, home from Greece.

Eden, absent since March with kidney trouble, will need time to pick up the threads of his job. Developments in Korea, the Middle East and in East-West relations present problems he didn't suspect last winter.

CHURCHILL INFORMED
Churchill, however, has kept his finger on the political pulse ever since his illness.

He now is fully recovered and ready for action, still determined to fight for a top-level conference to end East-West tension, though the latest Russian note is not too promising.

TROPICAL NORTH
GRAND FORKS, B.C. (CP) — This may be pretty far north for growing oranges, but Mrs. Dan MacDonald will be ready to pick them around Christmas. During the warm weather she keeps the six-foot tree outdoors, and brings it in the house before frost. She started the tree from seed.

STRACHAN URGES COMMISSION TO CONTROL B.C. PHONE RATES

Establishment of a B.C. telephone commission has been requested by Robert Strachan (CCF, Cowichan-Newcastle) in a notice of motion placed on the Legislature's order paper.

The MLA recently attacked the B.C. Telephone Company and contended it is controlled by a monopoly.

Mr. Strachan said the people of B.C. have very little to say in the actions of the companies controlling the telephone service in the province because there is no provincial or federal board that regulates telephone service.

Planning Body Recommends Vancouver Delay Auditorium

VANCOUVER (BUP) — A city planning committee recommended Tuesday that the city put off building a civic auditorium for at least another five years.

It also suggested that the proposed new main library building be put aside for the same period.

The recommendations were part of a report heard by Vancouver aldermen from the technical planning board on the city's proposed $30,000,000, five-year development plan.

Already a large number of civic and cultural groups have voiced strong protest to city council.

Cougar Home Debut Undimmed by Loss

Sports

10 Victoria Daily Times WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 30, 1953

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

Prepare yourself for a shock, if you haven't guessed it already, you Cougar fans.

Ivan "the terrible" Irwin seems destined to be throwing bodychecks from Coley Hall's back yard this year.

Coach Frank Boucher of the New York Rangers didn't exactly say so Tuesday night on the occasion of his first visit here in 27 years. But the biggest name in the New York Ranger organization outside of Victoria's own Lester Patrick left that thought hanging ominously in the dressing room air.

"Ivan's a good, rough, tough boy," Boucher said, as he digressed for a moment from a tete-a-tete with Archie Willis who covered hockey in the original heyday of the Western Hockey League.

"If I don't take him with us, you can be certain he'll get a chance before the season is over," he said of Ivan's eventual future.

Interject the note here that Vancouver Canucks are weeping on Mr. Boucher's shoulder and that Mr. Boucher is obligated to supply the towel or the antidote, and Irwin's smiling face suddenly assumes a hey-rube grin that will probably be welcome but not appreciated locally.

To add fuel to the fire Boucher pointed out that he has a "big problem" on his hands, what with seven defensemen in tow from which cumbersome total he must pare two.

Ivan Resigned to Possible Fate

Irwin, earlier expressed the thought that he hadn't quite made the jump and appeared resigned to the fact that "now I'll be hated in both places," meaning both here, and Vancouver, where he wasn't exactly loved last year.

Still for Boucher, who figures that the addition of Max Bentley, the return to the full usefulness of Don Raleigh and the inclusion on the club of a couple of rookies will give the Blues a playoff spot this NHL season, the Victoria visit was more successful than his last one.

Boucher played in the last game of the era old timers talk about with awe, being a member of the Vancouver Maroons who bowed to the revered Cougars, 6-1, way back in 1926.

That was the year, in the summer of which the league was sold, lock stock and barrel head, to the NHL.

Boucher went to New York, as did Patrick (as coach), and he's been in Gotham in some capacity with the Rangers ever since.

WHL Moves Up in Stature

That Victoria hosted one of hockey's immortals Wednesday is borne out by figures, the cold hard statistics of fame. Few of the old-timers and there was many a respectful murmur that went with a glance at Boucher Wednesday will forget the Boucher and Cook brothers' (Bill and Bun) line, one of the most formidable in all hockey.

Boucher was the kingpin of the unit, three times gaining all-star recognition and for seven consecutive seasons being named winner of the Lady Byng trophy for clean play and sportsmanship.

And Frank, still with the old love of the west deep in his heart, has a kind word for western hockey today.

"From what I've seen I'd rate this league with the AHL," he said. "We always considered the AHL stronger before."

Maybe that's why he left the impression that Irwin's best chance to succeed is with more seasoning and the WHL is as good a boiling pot as any. If so, Coley will certainly add the spice. There's no doubt about that.

Fielder Canuck Bound, Claimed by Rangers

VANCOUVER (CP)—Centre Guy Fielder, rookie of the year in successive seasons in the Western and American leagues, has been claimed by New York Rangers of the National Hockey League on waivers from Detroit Red Wings.

Frank Boucher, Ranger general manager, said here Tuesday that he had received confirmation of his waiver claim from hockey's central registry in Montreal.

"Guy will be our reserve centre ice man," Boucher said.

Finney Rejoins Stamps

CALGARY (CP)—Centre Sid Finney, who finished last season with Chicago Black Hawks, has returned on a recall basis to Calgary Stampede.

In 39 games with Stampede last season, the Calgary product scored 25 goals and had 19 assists.

LONDON—Joe Lacey, London, suspended Tommy McGovern, London, 15, for British lightweight title.

FOUR TEAMS TO SEE ACTION

Clearer Grid Picture Due

Local gridiron fans will be in a position to prognosticate their eventual Victoria Junior Canadian Football League champion after this week-end as all four league teams will be seen in action.

On Saturday at Heywood Avenue, the slightly chastened Oak Bay Whites, who penalized themselves right out of the game last Saturday, will take on the impressive Navy machine. Royal Roads will make their first appearance of the season Sunday on their home college grounds against Ray Mitchell's spirited Vampires, who opened the season with a 10-0 victory over Oak Bay.

The Navy club, which flashed depth and plunging power in an exhibition victory over Oak Bay two weeks ago, are reported to have been strengthened with new arrivals and will unveil a new backfield shift Saturday.

Royal Roads, attempting to build another team the equal of that produced by coach Ivan Edwards three years ago, are said to be concentrating on speed, and more speed, rather than power.

Rangers Given Battle

Rangers 3, Cougars 1
By BILL WALKER

The valves were a little sticky, but the sporadic explosions gave promise of hidden power as the Cougars bowed to New York Rangers Tuesday night.

Victims of a 3-1 defeat by the touring Broadway blueshirts, the Cougars were in the game until the final minute when Nick Mickoski tipped in Harry Howell's shot for the clinching goal.

This was the first Memorial Arena appearance of the Cats here this year, the unofficial start of another hockey season and, in the main, the capacity house went home liking what they saw.

Off to a wobbly start, probably befitting the occasion as for 10 members of the Cats it was their first look at a Victoria crowd, the Cougars were slightly disorganized during the first period.

But they outlived their nervousness to like the play away from their big cousins in the second frame, wiling a little in the final stanza though, at times, dangerous.

The advantage of a penalty to Don Raleigh at 2:17 of the first period was shortlived as Andy Heberton drew a minor infraction 10 seconds later. And it was shortly after the two players returned to action that Aldo Guidolin backhanded the first Ranger goal by Ralph Almas.

MAXWELL SCORES

That's the way it remained until the five-minute mark of the second frame when Stan Maxwell rifled a long shot through a maze of players into the corner of the Ranger goal for the equalizer.

Given a tremendous welcome by his admirers of last season, former Cougar Ivan Irwin repaid the fans in kind with the second Ranger goal. The long drifting shot from the blue line came at 19:58 and appeared to deflect off some foreign body en route to the top corner.

But in the interim between the two second-period markers, the Cougars flashed their best form and received merited applause from the fans, most of whom came only to ggle, hardly hoping for the close struggle which ensued.

Probably the best line on the ice for the Cougars was the Andy Heberton-Stan Maxwell-Ed. Doshoy unit. This three-season carried most of the offensive load, while the defensive burden was shared by the rear-guard combination of Sam Lavitt and Tony Schneider and Almas.

PASSED TEST

Schneider, the young rookie up from Regina Juniors, backed up from no one and passed his exams with colors flying when he took Irwin to task on more than one occasion.

Ross Lowe showed a willingness to emulate Irwin's feats of last year and also a good burst of speed. Reg Abbott was his usual hounding self.

Pentti Lund and Sam Bettio, the mid-season acquisitions by way of Boston, reflected the possible potential hidden under the sparsity of training the Cougars have had in comparison to the Rangers. Bill Sinnett left the impression of being a second shadow to his check.

Fiori Goegan and Ernie Roche alternated their defense post adeptly enough; Colin Kilburn didn't seem to be skating as well as his fine preseason conditioning would indicate, while Billy Reay, in only limited action, showed enough of his Montreal form to augur well for the future, as did Gene Achymichuk, though slightly hamstrung offensively.

Max Bentley stole the eye of the Rangers along with Alan Stanley and, of course, Irwin.

THERE ARE PITCHERS, AND THERE ARE SERIES PITCHERS

Dodger Hill Strength Series Key

By RED SMITH

(Special coverage of the world series for Times readers by noted New York columnist Red Smith begins today.)

NEW YORK—Once in a long while a sports writer learns something, or thinks he does, which amounts to the same thing. Back in 1945 a lesson Claude Passeau — and Hank Wyse had enjoyed his best season on the eve of the 50th World Series.

Stated simply, it does not seem an enormously difficult thing to learn. It is merely that world series are won by world series pitchers.

In 1945 the Cubs won the pennant with a great raft of pitchers. There were two big guys — Hank Borowy and Claude Passeau — and Hank Wyse had enjoyed his best season on the eve of the 50th World Series. The others were fellows named Hi Bithorn, Ray Prim, Ray Starr, Bob Chipman and so on, and if they stopped somewhere this side of immortality, they had at least contributed towards Chicago's success.

Because of the depth of their pitching staff, the Cubs were the favorites going into the series with Detroit. There were to be sure, dissenters among the handicappers, one being Mr. Warren Brown of Chicago. "I can't conceive," he said firmly, "of either team winning a single game." Most of his press box neighbors, however, plumped for the Cubs.

Well, the series went seven games. Borowy won two and Passeau pitched a one-hitter. Hal Newhouse won two for the Tigers. Virgil Trucks and Dizzy Trout got one apiece, and as the championship went to Detroit the lesson sank in: The big pitchers, the World Series pitchers, had done it. One timid vote depth is not a winning factor in a world series, because when a team must go deep for pitching it's already dead. If a club can't win with its front-line guys it isn't going to win at all. There isn't time. For that reason, and that reason only, the Yankees are the pick in this one. They have the big world series pitchers, or at least the guys who have answered that description in the past.

Charley Dresen has done a remarkable job of employing quantity instead of quality this year. As far as pitching is concerned, depth has saved him all summer. Except when he had Carl Erskine going, Dodgers' manager has depended more heavily on his bullpen than his starters. Maybe he can keep the system working for another week, but it's not an ideal one for a big series.

Erskine is a first-rate pitcher from whom one expects a winning performance, four out of five times. Preacher Roe figures to make trouble for the Yankees as he has in the past. Left-handers have harassed them a good deal this summer. It is difficult, however, to take much stock in the talk about Roe starting more than one game; one was his limit in younger days.

MUST PROVE POINT

If the Dodgers have big World Series pitchers beyond this pair, the point remains to be proved. All the brothers are valiant.

This line of reasoning assumes that Allie Reynolds and Vic Raschi are coming into this series prepared to pitch as they have in other October when each was entirely capable of winning two games. Ed Lopat, Whitey Ford and Johnny Sain are possible winners but it's Raschi and Reynolds who rank as the big ones. The Yankees might win without them, but they couldn't be picked without them.

The notion that the Yankees must whip the Dodgers again because they always have done so does not carry much weight here, these are not the same teams that met in 1941, 1947, 1949 and 1952.

Off the mound, the Dodgers are at least as good as the Yankees and probably better, they have more power in the batting order, at least as much speed and at least as stout a defense. The Dodgers know this is so, and the Yankee uniform will not terrify competitors like Roy Campanella, Jackie Robinson, Peeewe Reese and Duke Snider.

TIME WILL TELL

Intangibles do count for something in rounders, but tangibles are better. Give a manager somebody like Allie Reynolds pitching and somebody like Duke Snider hitting, and he'll let the other side have all the spiritual values, the full circle.

Last year the Dodgers took the Yankees through seven fierce games before losing. The Yankees cannot expect Gil Hodges to sit this one out again. Carl Furillo never was the player he has been this year. Junior Gilliam makes the double play better than Robinson could last season. Campanella is at his peak. Yankee pitching will not always handle Robinson as successfully in the pinches as was done last October.

In short, there is every reason to believe that Brooklyn is stronger than in 1952, except on the mound, which brings us back to the starting point. If the Dodgers have got it here, the burden of proof is on them. Okay, seven to go.

Frank Recalls the Past, Looks to the Future

Proudest man in Memorial Arena Tuesday night during Victoria Cougar-New York Ranger exhibition game was New York manager-coach Frank Boucher, left. Here Boucher talks shop with two good friends for his pride. Max Bentley, newest acquisition of the Rangers, and a player whom Boucher hopes will lead the Rangers into the NHL playoffs, centre, is rated as one of the all-time greats. He led the National Hockey League in scoring in 1946 and 1947 and has won the Lady Byng and Hart trophies. Cougars' Pentti Lund, right, is a former Ranger himself and was with the Broadway Blues in 1949 when he won the Calder Trophy as the outstanding NHL rookie. (Times photo.)

Orioles Back in Majors After 50-Year Absence

NEW YORK (UP)—The Baltimore Orioles, a proud old baseball dynasty which gave the game such heroes as Babe Ruth, John McGraw and Wee Willie Keeler, came back to the major leagues today after a 50-year absence with high hopes and a last-place franchise.

The nation's sixth largest city with its 349,708 citizens inherited the distressed tail-end St. Louis Browns Tuesday by a unanimous vote of the eight club owners.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro and the new boss of the ball club, attorney Clarence Miles, said an immediate rebuilding program would begin with an aim to repeating the fabulous success story of Milwaukee this season with its transplanted Boston Braves.

There were reasons to believe they would succeed—even with the rag-bag Browns. For the completely rebuilt park—Babe Ruth Stadium—which originally was a football field, will seat upwards of 52,000 when construction is finished next April, whereas Milwaukee's new plant seats 33,000.

"Maybe we won't fill it up every day, but we'll come close, judging by the enthusiasm of the town which is on fire for baseball," said D'Alesandro. "As mayor, I am sure the people of our great city will support major league baseball and our next big aim is to bring a world series to Baltimore and win it."

Miles, who said the club paid out $2,475,000 to Bill Veck of St. Louis and his group of stockholders for the franchise and the ball club, emphasized "this is just the beginning."

"We realize we took over a last-place team and we want a winner. We're out to buy some players and that costs money, too. We also, of course, must settle with the international league for taking over its franchise."

VEECK'S STATUS IN DOUBT

Whether Veck, who was openly opposed by several club officials, notably Del Webb of the Yankees, would be taken into the new organization was a question to be settled. Manager Marty Marion and farm director Bill DeWitt both remained under terms of contracts which run through next season for Marion and through the 1956 season for DeWitt.

TICKET BROKERS CAUGHT TAKING SCALPER ROLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Police raided a Manhattan ticket agency and confiscated 141 World Series tickets today on complaints that excessive prices were being charged. Three men were taken into custody.

Plain clothes men said they paid $170 in marked money for six Ebbets Field tickets with a total face value of $42. Brokers are allowed to charge $1 more than a ticket's face value.

Police said the agency also quoted a price of $150 for four box seat tickets, which have a face value of $10 each.

The police said the complaints came chiefly from New York business firms, which protested they were being squeezed for exorbitant prices for tickets for out-of-town customers.

Series Video Guide

NEW YORK (UP)—For television viewers, here are the uniform numbers of the Dodgers and Yankees playing in the world series:

Dodgers—1—Pee Wee Reese, 2—Bobby Morgan, 3—Billy Cox, 4—Duke Snider, 5—Wayne Belardi, 6—Carl Furillo, 7—manager Charley Dresen, 8—George Shuba, 10—Al Walker, 11—Gil Hodges, 17—Carl Erskine, 18—Jim Hughes, 19—Junior Gilliam, 22—coach Billy Herman, 23—Erv Palica, 24—Bill Antonello, 25—Bob Milliken, 27—coach Cookie Lavagetto, 28—Preacher Roe, 29—Don Thompson, 30—Billy Loos, 31—coach Jake Pitter, 34—Russ Meyer, 38—Dick Williams, 39—Roy Campanella, 41—Clem Bollweg.

Watch Those Calories, Porky

When hockey players talk about "lines" they are not always referring to forward units. Quite often the conversation is pointed to waistlines, as it was Tuesday when the Victoria Cougars were guests of restaurateur Paul Arsens for a steak dinner. Cougars' Sam Bettio, centre, who has already been dubbed "Porky" by his mates, was forcibly restrained from that delectable chunk of steak by Ivan Irwin, left, a Cougar last year and a potential Ranger this season. A smug Colin Kilburn, right, who reported to the Cougars 15 pounds under last year's weight, exhibits what gastronomic moderation can accomplish. (Times photo.)

Old Orioles Bought by New Orioles

BALTIMORE, Md. (UP)—The Baltimore franchise in the International League, which must be moved to another city to make room here for the new Baltimore Orioles of the American League, now belongs to the new Orioles.

Jack Dunn, owner and president of the International League club, said today he has sold the franchise to the owners of the new Orioles for $350,000.

Dunn said there were three things that could be done now with the franchise. 1. The new owners may keep it and operate the team as an Orioles' farm team. 2. They may turn the franchise over to the league. 3. They may sell it to another party. In any case, the franchise must be moved to another city.

Odds-makers Give Champions Edge

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel's proud New York Yankees and Charlie Dressen's powerful Brooklyn Dodgers sought today to reach previously unscathed heights as the two championship clubs unfolded the 50th staging of baseball's greatest spectacle — the world series — before some 70,000 spectators at Yankee Stadium.

The Yankees, winners of five straight American League pennants, were after an unprecedented fifth successive world's championship. The Dodgers, hailed as "the greatest team in Brooklyn history" went into their seventh October classic with a record of never having won a series.

Probably because they feel they've got to ride with a winner, the odds-makers have established the Yankees a 13-to-10 favorite to polish off the Brooks for the fifth time in as many clashes. The Bronx Bombers whipped the Dodgers in series competition in 1911, 1917, 1919 and 1952. The series went the full seven games last year.

REAL QUESTION
The series shapes up like a championship heavyweight fight between a boxer and a slugger, with the Yankees in the role of the Fancy Dan. It figures to come to this: Can the Yankee pitchers check the Dodger hitters?

The real key may be Reynolds, whose effective mound work both as a starter and relief artist was the biggest single factor in last year's Yankee triumph.

Korchak Takes Grid Point Lead

WINNIPEG (CP) — Borden Bud Korchak, all-star flying wing with Winnipeg Blue Bombers, has taken a slim one-point lead over former leader Pete Thodes of Calgary in the individual scoring in the Western Interprovincial Football Union. Both are Canadians.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show that Korchak, 26-year-old former soccer player and now in his fifth season with the Bombers, has 40 points in the nine games played to date in the 16-game schedule.

Saxon Bounces Back In Middleweight Scene

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Welterweight title contender Johnny Saxon hoped today for a return match with Gil Turner, the only man to beat him in a 43-bout career, as a reward for his unanimous 10-round upset of top-notch middleweight Joey Giardello "in the best fight I ever fought."

Turner snapped Saxon's winning streak three bouts ago after the Brooklyn negro had entered the ring 39 times without a setback, although he fought one draw. Now, Saxon wants sweet revenge on Turner, but his manager, Blinky Palermo, insists that the bout be fought at 150 pounds.

In their previous meeting, Turner scaled 156½, outweighing Saxon by 6½ pounds. Saxon, at 151, gave away four pounds to Giardello and wasn't bothered by the difference.

Saxon's triumph over Philadelphia's Giardello was sparked by a near-fub at the end of the fifth round when both fighters continued punching after the bell. They tore at each other until they were pushed and shoved into their respective corners by their handlers.

The bout, witnessed by 4,995 fans who paid $23.810, saw one judge, Herb Goldman, score the rounds three to one in favor of Saxon, with six even.

Cooke Still Interested in Major Franchise

TORONTO (CP) — Jack Kent Cooke, owner of the Toronto Maple Leaf baseball club, says he doesn't feel too badly over the shift of St. Louis Browns' franchise to Baltimore instead of Toronto.

"I'm disappointed all our negotiations fell through," he said Tuesday night, "but I wouldn't like to have been stamped into an extravagant price for the franchise."

"I'm satisfied this won't be our last chance to get into the major leagues. There is still one American League franchise which could become available and the possibility that the major leagues may expand to 10 teams."

Asked if he would approach Athletics about a shift of that American League club to Toronto, Cooke said:

"I've already spoken to them and they've said 'nothing doing.' They told me they weren't going to sell."

Both Stengel and manager Chuck Dressen of Brooklyn have been warned by commissioner Ford Frick that bean balls will not be tolerated. He also instructed them not to blast the umpires after the games for what they consider adverse decisions.

Dressen is keeping a secret "book" on the Yankee batters, but he is willing to discuss reserve infielder Willie Miranda, who isn't much of a hitter. "His weakness is pitched balls," quipped Cholly.

Television officials say this series will be telecast by the largest network in history—119 stations in 113 cities—and no fewer than 750 radio stations will carry the broadcast.

The Brooks allotted six tickets to each Yankee player for the Ebbets Field games, but received only five for the Yankee Stadium games themselves.

A mere 50 persons stood in line outside mammoth Yankee Stadium early today waiting to buy $2 bleacher seats for the first game.

Ralph Branca, Detroit Tiger pitcher, is around visiting his old mates. Although he's an American Leaguer, Ralph, who was dealt away from the Dodgers during the season, is rooting for them. "Why shouldn't he? His father-in-law owns considerable stock in the club."

Veterans of series bleacher lines were unanimous in ascribing the paucity of bleacherites to the rise in prices.

Black Hawks to Bank on Rookies

(This is the third in a Canadian Press series on pre-season prospects in the National Hockey League. Today's story is on Chicago Black Hawks.)

By CECIL SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer
PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP)—A trickle of new blood mixed with veterans from last season gives Chicago Black Hawks hope of a winning team in the coming National Hockey League campaign.

Coach Sid Abel, himself a star centreman with Detroit Red Wings for 13 years, said he will have possibly five new players in uniform as he watched his charges go through a lengthy drill at the Memorial Centre here, training camp for the Hawks.

Two of the new players come from junior ranks, while the other three played senior hockey last winter in the Western Canada League.

The juniors are Ken Wharham, 19-year-old centre who starred with Galt juniors last year, and Murray Costello, 19-year-old rightwinger with Toronto's St. Michael's in the 1952-53 season.

They arrived with a number of other juniors for tryouts and were held over for further training. High in his praise, Abel said "both have been going at a fast clip and it's quite possible they will be with us when we open the season in Montreal, Oct. 8."

The three other new players are centre Larry Wilson, 23; rightwinger Lou Jankowski, 22; and defenceman Larry Ziedel, 25. All played with Edmonton last season.

Abel said Ziedel, a big, solid, hard-hitting fellow who played with Chicoutimi in the Quebec Hockey League before going to Edmonton, would definitely stay with the Hawks.

The Chicago regulars arrived in camp Sept. 13 and worked out twice a day for the first week, then switched to one two-hour practice each day.

Asked if he had any predictions on how his team would finish the lengthy 70-game schedule ahead, Abel smiled and said:

"Not at present. Training has been going great and the fellows are rounding into shape nicely but I'll wait to see them in real action before making any predictions."

"We've suffered only one casualty in training so far. Doc Couture suffered a pulled groin but it isn't serious."

The Hawks finished last year in fourth spot.

Abel specifically mentioned Pete Conacher, a son of Charlie Conacher, as shining in practice.

"Conacher started out great at the first of last season, then dropped off toward the finish and we were a little disappointed. But this year he has been going well in practice and I think he is beginning to hit his stride again."

In an intersquad game, Conacher scored three goals as the Whites defeated the Blacks 9-6. Al Rollins, formerly of Toronto Maple Leafs, will be goalie for the Hawks again this season. Henry Red Bassen of Calgary has also been working in the nets in practice but will go to Chatham before the season starts.

Last year's players who are back in camp are defencemen Bill Gadsby, Gus Mortson, Al Dewsbury and Lee Fogolin, and forwards Gus Bodnar, George Gee, Bill Mosienko, Jim McFadden, Vic Lynn, Fred Hucal, Jimmy Peters, Couture and Conacher.

Bomber Pilot Said At Odds With Brass

REGINA (CP)—Sports editor Tom Melville of the Leader-Post said in a sports page story on Tuesday that Winnipeg Blue Bombers' 19-2 victory over Saskatchewan Roughriders at Winnipeg Monday night "may have saved Bomber coach George Trafton his job."

Melville said: "The Leader-Post learned from a source close to the Bomber executive that Trafton came under fire at a meeting Monday of the management committee. The coach was 'on the spot' after losing to the Roughriders in Regina last Saturday. That was Winnipeg's fourth defeat in five games."

"The executive apparently was alarmed at the way Trafton handled his substitutions in recent Western Football Conference games. In the main, he used his imports as more or less 60-minute men, while Canadian players, recognized by many as the cream of the home-brew talent, drew slivers on the bench," Melville added.

"When Trafton used young Geoff Crain, the former McGill star, at quarterback Monday night, it was believed to have been on direct orders from the management committee."

"Trafton was not on the bench during the game. He sat in the scouting box above the grandstand while Stu Clarkson, the line-coach, worked at the ground level."

Trafton still has a year to go on a three-year contract," Melville said.

President Karl Slocomb of the Bombers Tuesday denied the report that the club's executive ordered Trafton to use Canadian quarterback Geoff Crain in Monday's game.

"Reports that the executive has instructed coach Trafton to dress or send on the field certain players are not true," said Slocomb. "He runs the team and we do not interfere."

Opening Night Kings Revert to Normal

By RON COULTER
 City trundlers are quickly coming to realize that high scores on opening night don't necessarily mean a banner season.

Many hardy keggers whose heads were in the clouds after posting high opening night scores have had their dreams badly shattered by the fact that corner pins, head pins, splits, etc., still exist.

Bud Baldwin was the bright light this week in the Capital City Major Fivepin League as he racked up single games of 285, 296 and 271 for high-three total of 852.

Will Smith with 801; Bob McLeod, 782; Phil Smith, 744; F. Kade, 727; and Jerry Devine at 725 posted other commendable totals. Smith fired top single of 325 followed by Kade at 311 and McLeod with 309.

King Pins, Scalpers and J. R. Watkins moved into a first-place tie with six points while Climbers slid down from the top position to second, one point behind. King Pins rolled high team total of 3,357, while Scalpers tallied a single of 1,193.

In the commercial section Bob Elliott racked up high three-game score of 692 while Bill Hunter, 673; Leo Kozak, 672; Darrel Baker, 667, and Doug Romkey with 658 rolled other high totals.

Hunter chalked up top single-game of 285, Romkey, 268, and Kozak and Law Keen with 259.

Doo Dads are high team with 11 points, one point up on Welch's who hold down second place with 10.

A. Quinn was top man in Gibson's senior tenpin loop with a 585 total. Ray Bridger hit for 576. Ken Munn posted 564 and Ron Wilson totalled 561.

Bill Templeton carved out high single-game of 226. Quinn and Wilson with 213 and Len Murrant at 210 rolled other top one-game scores.

Toggerly Shop checked in with team high total of 2,685 and Gorge Hotel marked up leading single of 919.

Like to win a car with your bowling talent? There is still room for about 20 keggers in the car classic which rolls Thursday night.

Football Gives Way

MONTREAL (BUP)—The Montreal Alouettes have postponed their scheduled Big Four Football League game Sunday against the Toronto Argonauts.

The Als said it was uncertain whether the Royals' Baseball Stadium would be available for the game since the International League team has advanced into the little world series.

The game was rescheduled for Oct. 18.

Cricket Club Meeting

The Albion Cricket Club will hold its annual general meeting Thursday night at 8 in the Pemberton Holmes office.

Election of officers for next season and other business will take place.

Stamps Lose Bright, Possibly 'For Good'

CALGARY, Alta. (BUP)—Brilliant Calgary Stampeder back Johnny Bright will be out of the Western Football Conference scene for the remainder of the season, team manager Bob Robinette said today.

Robinette said Bright separated a shoulder muscle when he was hit hard by Edmonton's Normie "China Clipper" Kwong in Monday night's Western Conference game here.

The manager said Bright would be lost to the Stamps for the rest of the season and "maybe for good."

"It's very possible that Bright's football days are over," Robinette said. "He injured his other shoulder last year, had a badly injured ankle earlier this year, and had generally proved prone to injuries over the past three or four years."

Robinette said the club was trying to get the services of another import before tonight's import cut deadline. He declined to release any names.

FANS SORRY, BUT

Browns' Loss To Cost City Half-Million

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis baseball fans were busy today trying to get used to the idea of being a one-club major-league town.

The Browns, after three-quarters of a century here, were shifted to Baltimore Tuesday. Now only the National League Cardinals remain.

Fans generally were sorry to see the club go, but there didn't seem to be any alternative. Financial troubles have always plagued the Browns.

Business men concerned with the baseball operation figure the shift will cost the city about $500,000 a year.

With an attendance of only 306,728 fans this season, the concession stand at Busch Stadium took in $184,000, and $70,000 of this went to vendors and other workers.

Railroads figure to lose about $80,000 a year and the Chase Hotel, where all American League clubs stopped, about $50,000.

Brownie officer workers, exclusive of president Bill Veck, received another $75,000. These are the main items which will be missed.

Prison Sentence, Heavy Fines Sequel to Prince Rupert Riot

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—Three fines and a four-month prison sentence were handed down in County Court Tuesday, as a sequel to a night of city-wide rioting here August 2.

Earl Bact was sentenced to four months in Oakalla prison farm following his conviction on charges of taking part in an unlawful assembly.

Clayton Jarvis and John McKenzie were each fined $300 or three months in jail, and Arnold Jonsen was fined $150 or one month.

A fifth man, George Glewin, was acquitted.

The charges were laid following a mob demonstration August 2, when stones were hurled through windows in the city hall and RCMP barracks.

Police finally used tear gas to disperse the crowd, estimated at between 300 and 400. There have been no further disturbances.

Before passing sentence, Judge W. O. Fulton said he considered the men to be "dupes of a sinister influence."

The judge said the men were "stooges" and he did not think "they were the cause of the assembly."

Twelve persons were originally charged with the offense. Of the remainder, three pleaded guilty and were given a year's suspended sentence in magistrate's court; three were freed during the preliminary hearing, and a woman pleaded guilty in County Court and was given a year's suspended sentence by Judge Fulton.

Health Building Cost $67,000 Over Estimate

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The construction cost of the new health and welfare building here will be much higher than original estimates, tenders opened Tuesday disclosed.

The lowest bid received for the proposed social service administration headquarters was $317,380, about $67,000 above the estimate prepared.

HAYDN'S 'CREATION' CHOSEN FOR CHRISTMAS PRESENTATION

Annual presentation at Christmastime of Handel's "Messiah" by the Victoria Choral Society is to be discontinued.

Graham Steed, director of the choral organization, has announced a new policy will be followed. This year the society will present Haydn's "Creation." In future years works of a similar nature will be presented. Instead of the annual performance of "The Messiah."

The Choral Society presented "The Creation" at Easter-time in Christ Church Cathedral. The December presentation will be at the Royal Theatre, with the Victoria Symphony Orchestra in accompaniment.

Former Movie Star Rests From Duties in Convent

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An ill June Haver arrived Tuesday night by plane from Kansas City for a rest from her convent duties.

"I want to go back," said the pretty, one-time $3,500-a-week movie star, "It all depends on my health and God's will."

She did not say what the nature of her illness is, but her mother, Mrs. Andrew Ottestad, told a reporter that June suffers from severe migraine headaches.

"I was just not strong enough," she said. "I hope that this leave is only temporary. I found the convent everything I hoped it would be. I was really happy there and all the other nuns were just wonderful to me."

Miss Haver was dressed simply but smartly in a brown tailored suit. Except for lipstick, she wore virtually no makeup. The platinum tresses that were her movie trademark now have darkened to light brown.

She said she will see some doctors here and hoped that her visit would be "just a vacation and a rest" that soon would enable her to continue the religious life.

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—One fisherman was reported drowned and two others were saved Tuesday, as wintry storms lashed the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Missing from the fishboat Beatrice H. is James Leonard Ryan, 48. Details of the mishap were not immediately available here.

Rescued from the capsized fishboat Greyfish were Sid Crosby and Sonny Beynon. They were picked up by the American crab boat Amalia which proceeded to Massett.

The tenant, Dean McGowan, 54-year-old CPR porter, escaped with minor facial burns and singed hair as he fled to safety down the rear stairs.

Williams was rescued by firemen as he perched precariously on a ledge in driving rain.

Keel Laid of CPR's $16 Million Liner

GLASGOW, Scotland (BUP)—The keel plate of a new liner for the Canadian Pacific steamships' Atlantic Ocean service was laid here Tuesday by W. A. Mather, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The 22,500-ton ship, known only as number 731 for the present, was ordered last November and is expected to join the CP's fleet in 1956. She will cost $16,000,000 and will carry 1,050 passengers at a top speed of 22 knots. The new ship will use Montreal as Canadian terminal port.

Britain Has Problem Keeping Aged at Work

The Briton who works all his life with the idea of retiring at 65 with a comfortable pension must change his mind now if he is to keep in line with current government policy.

This was disclosed by James Howie Mitchell, assistant secretary in charge of employment at the British ministry of labor who arrived in Victoria Tuesday for a four-day visit.

AGE SECONDARY
The idea in Britain today, he said is that a man should stay in his job as long as he is fit, mentally and physically, to do his work efficiently. Age in years is a secondary consideration.

Mr. Mitchell is visiting Canada with his wife on a Nuffield traveling fellowship to study Canadian methods of raising management standards.

He told an audience at the Victoria College auditorium Tuesday night that in 1911, one person out of every 15 in the United Kingdom was of pensionable age. Today the figure had risen to two in every 15, and by 1977 it was expected to be as high as three.

To prevent too many old people living on pensions and becoming a drain on the nation's economy, the government had set up the National Advisory Committee on the Employment of Older Men and Women.

The committee was composed of representatives of the British Employers' Federation, the TUC, and all government departments concerned. It also included medical and scientific experts, and social workers.

Their problem was to decide how old people could be employed usefully and happily without hindering the progress of younger men and women. "Retirement pensions are now paid in Britain to men of 65 and women of 60," said Mr. Mitchell. "But if a man is still working at that age he receives no pension until he is 70. Then he gets the money whether he is working or not."

"The idea is to raise the retirement age to 70 and we are encouraging insurance companies and firms with pension schemes to take the same line," he stressed.

Mr. Mitchell said the population in Britain is increasing not because more babies are being born but because people are living longer.

BIRTHRATE DOWN
"Actually the birthrate is decreasing because families tend to be smaller nowadays," he said.

"There is now a complete change in the age structure of the British population. Our aging population is a bigger problem than anywhere else in the world except France. Canada is faced with the same problem, but so far on a smaller scale."

"Britain must look after her old people, but too many of them, living on savings and pensions, are a steady drain on public resources. To preserve a balanced economy we cannot afford to maintain many non-producers," he concluded.

Mr. Mitchell will be in Victoria until Friday when he leaves on the remainder of his Canadian tour which takes in Banff, Winnipeg, Toronto, Ottawa, London, Montreal and Quebec. He sails for England from Halifax on December 4.

Community Hall For Sidney Aim Of Big Carnival

SIDNEY—One of the biggest carnivals in Sidney's history is planned to raise funds for a new community hall.

Fred Gilbert, president of the Sidney-North Saanich Community Hall Association, said today the ambitious project is set for October 3, rain or shine.

If weather is inclement, the Knights of Pythias Hall and the Rex Theatre will house the carnival.

All district organizations are solidly behind the carnival, Mr. Gilbert said. "There's plenty of enthusiasm."

There will be square dance competitions, side shows and puppet shows and stalls of all kinds.

Canadian Poll Shows Big Four Talks Approved

Might Ease Tension, Majority Believes

Canada's growing interest in international matters is revealed in the fact that three in four Canadians know that a suggestion for a Big Four meeting to discuss world problems has been made.

Of this informed group, a majority (53 per cent) think that such a meeting would decrease world tension. Thinking of the people as a whole is shown below.

Throughout the provinces there's a strong feeling that the four top men should meet first. If Churchill, Eisenhower, Malenkov and Laniel were to have a session, think 53 per cent of Canadian men and women, the foreign ministers could meet afterwards.

In the current study on public opinion, the Gallup Poll first asked Canadians if they had heard or read of such a meeting. Three in four citizens said "Yes"—rising to more than eight in ten in B.C. and the Prairies.

All Canadians, whether they had heard of the meeting or not, were asked:

"If such a meeting were held do you think it would actually decrease world tension or increase tension?"

Slicing opinion any way—regionally, by age groups, and whether men or women—brought out much the same point of view as the national thinking.

Only significant difference in point of view between various segments of the population lies in the fact that Canadians with university education believe much more strongly (56 per cent) that such a meeting would decrease tension than do those with public school training (42 per cent).

Next question put to the public by interviewers for the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion was this:

"Incidentally in such a meeting do you think it would be better if the top men in each country (Malenkov, Eisenhower, Laniel, Churchill) were to meet together or do you think the foreign ministers of the four countries should meet first?"

With fairly general uniformity of thought in one or other points of view, the poll ran into considerable controversy when its interviewers asked:

"In which country do you think such a meeting should be held?"

This is the order of popularity, on a national scale:

U.S.A. 13%
A neutral country 10%
Great Britain 10%
Canada 5%
France 4%
Russia 4%
Sweden 1%
No difference 1%
Miscellaneous 1%
Don't know 1%

One citizen believed that such a meeting should be held every six months, in a different capital each time. A fair number would like to see a meeting of the Big Four held on board a ship "in the middle of the ocean" or "in the new world, somewhere." "In Korea," said others.

Sumatra Rebels Hang Official, Murder Family

JAKARTA, Indonesia (CP)—Rebel Moslem fanatics have hanged a police chief and murdered his wife and children, according to reports from North Sumatra reaching here today.

Ten days ago the rebels proclaimed Aceh part of an "Islamic state" and attacked army and police posts in the remote North Sumatran area. An Indonesian Army communiqué today said the pitched battles were continuing.

Former Republican Senator Named Judge

WASHINGTON (UP)—Former Senator John A. Danaher of Connecticut has been named to the U.S. circuit court of appeals for the District of Columbia.

President Eisenhower appointed the 54-year-old Republican to the appellate post Tuesday to succeed the late Judge James M. Proctor. The nomination is subject to Senate confirmation in January.

Propeller Kills Young N.B. Airman in Quebec

MONTREAL (UP)—John B. Pickard, a 19-year-old airman from Grand Falls, N.B., was killed Tuesday night when he walked into the propeller of a North Star aircraft warming up at Dorval airport.

Air force officials said Pickard was working on the plane's wheels when he accidentally came in contact with the propeller.

Angry Citizens in Douglas 'Death Trap' Area Renew Safety Measures Plea as Child Injured

Protests against speeding cars and lack of crosswalks were renewed today by angry citizens of the Seven Oaks district of Saanich, following an accident involving three-year-old Sharon Carrington. (See story, Page 1.)

Alex Hutchison, who led the fight for crosswalks in August, blamed government inertia and inaction and called the stretch of Douglas Street from McKenzie Avenue south to the Douglas fire hall a "death trap."

At the accident scene this morning, Mr. Hutchison, who is the father of two children, charged that cars "roared by" with no respect for the 30-mile speed limit.

He and his neighbors want safety "stop when occupied" walks put at Ralph Street and at McKenzie Avenue, to protect youngsters going to McKenzie Avenue School, and help people who cross the street there to reach bus stops.

Mr. Hutchison further stated resurfacing of the highway had increased, rather than lessened, the hazard at Seven Oaks. "Cars roar over the top at high speed," he said. "This is a speedway, not a highway."

The stretch of road has no sidewalks. It forms a part of the new Pat Highway, and has no crosswalks except at University Street, main thoroughfare for Mount View High School students.

A dramatic photograph, showing a car speeding by while two youngsters waited their chance to cross, was published in the Times Sept. 5, to illustrate the danger of the road.

News reports published at about the same time stated residents were threatening to keep their children out of school unless crosswalks were installed.

At the time, Saanich engineer H. D. Dawson said that crosswalks on the provincial highway were attended to by the B.C. department of public works, and not Saanich.

Accident Scene Called 'Death Trap' by Residents

Stretch of highway where an accident involving three-year-old Sharon Carrington occurred this morning is called a "death trap" by residents of Seven Oaks district of Saanich. They have been agitating for crosswalks. "X" shows spot where girl was hit by panel truck, also shown in photo.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

The continual progress of scientific man toward a newer, better age is a source of comfort to me, always.

As witness this headline in one of the papers last weekend:

HYDROGEN BOMB IS GETTING CHEAPER: SOON EVERYBODY CAN BE MAKING THEM

How frightfully, frightfully jolly.

One of the great troubles in this world has been the high cost of hydrogen bombs.

Only families in the upper income brackets have been able to afford them in the past, and even they often had trouble keeping up the payments.

Now it appears that hydrogen bombs will be within the reach of all. We shall soon have two hydrogen bombs in every garage.

Possibly the brightest future for the hydrogen bomb will lie in the "make-it-yourself" field.

Manufacturers soon may start producing H bomb kits for the home workshop, complete with all necessary parts and tools and a detailed instruction sheet. I suggest it would make an ideal Christmas gift for the hobbyist.

What this country needs is a good 5-cent H bomb.

One of the Victoria used cars dealers is offering a bonus with the purchase of an automobile.

You have your choice of a free season ticket to the hockey, or free driving lessons.

I would advise one and all to take the hockey tickets.

In this town, people who learn to drive correctly and courteously are apt to make themselves conspicuous.

As is their custom at this time of the year, the New Yorks and the Brooklyns are engaged in a contest to settle the world's championship of baseball.

(It always seems to be the New Yorks and the Brooklyns, anyway, although I believe other teams have been in the contest within the memory of living man.)

What intrigues me about the World Series is the intense interest in baseball which flares up all over the continent as the pennant races are settled.

Even in this far outpost of Empire, you hear learned discussions on the respective merits of Them Bums and the Invincible Yankees. These discussions, of course, are always dominated by someone whose closest connection to big league baseball is that he once went on a bat.

One of the great freedoms granted those who are fortunate enough to live in a democracy is the freedom to be a baseball expert during the world series period.

Thus THIS temporary expert, undoubtedly influenced by sentiment, says the Brooklyn Dodgers in six games.

Play up, team!

Serious burns were suffered to the shoulders, arms and back of Peter O'Connor, 1221 Fort Street, Wednesday, while employed aboard CPS Princess Elaine.

Hot steam was the cause of the accident but details are not known. The injured man is in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Mayor Claude Harrison returned to his office at City Hall today after attending a meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities in Montreal.

"Aerial Mapping" will be the topic of guest speaker G. S. Andrews, B.C. surveyor-general, at a Rotary Club luncheon in the Empress Hotel Thursday. Next week prizes for the children's gardening competition will be presented.

Two, one-year-old buck deer at Beacon Hill Park are going to Vancouver to be put on a diet.

It's not that they are too fat, but just that the department of zoology at UBC wants a couple of live specimens to carry on diet and growth experiments.

City parks committee today agreed to give the deer to UBC.

G. A. Yardley, collector of customs and excise, announced today that the Victoria department will be working a five-day week in future. This means that the long room in the Customs House will not be open on Saturday and it will not be possible to obtain express vouchers or send parcels.

Elderly residents at Mountain View Home, 2251 Cadboro Bay Road, enjoyed an hour-long program of popular and old-time songs staged by Victoria Local 247 of the American Federation of Musicians (TLC).

Artists were W. S. Emmerton, piano; Geoff Venables, violin; Fred Lincoln, cello, and Don Mossie, base.

Storm Damage Only Superficial As Forewarned Citizens on Guard

Gale winds that reached a peak of 46 miles per hour at 11:30 p.m. Tuesday kept forewarned police, public utilities crews, boat owners, and private citizens busy "battening down the hatches."

Royal Victoria Yacht Club members had to shift berths of some small craft as the wind picked up speed at 7:30.

One float was ripped loose, but the boats were saved. The float was secured later.

Crew of the 106-foot yacht Fifer set sail when the big vessel threatened to break piling at its moorings, and rode out the storm in the middle of Cadboro Bay.

Oak Bay Boat House reported four boats driven ashore, but damage was minor.

Wind broke a few power lines, causing temporary disruption of electrical service, but B.C. Electric officials said no major damage occurred.

Standing crops of corn, cabbage and cauliflower plantings in the Saanich and Gordon Head areas were blown flat in places. Tree crops suffered as late variety apples and pears were blown to the ground.

Weatherman William Mackie said that by 9:30 p.m. the wind was blowing a steady 32 miles per hour, but had fallen off to 18 miles by 2:30 a.m. today.

Only 0.25 inch of rain fell between 4 a.m. Tuesday and 4 a.m. today, he said.

Wet streets and heavy winds contributed to the accident scene and kept police and firemen busy removing fallen wires and boughs throughout the district.

Only one person went to hospital as a result of street accidents. He was 16-year-old Stephen Bishop, 598 Speed Ave., whose bike skidded when he turned from Government to Bay Street in the late afternoon. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with a possible fractured ankle.

Two cars had to be towed away following a crash at McKenzie and Linden at 5:30 p.m. William H. Garraway, 1500 Fort, was traveling south on Linden when he was in collision with a car driven by Elizabeth K. Reed, 1271 Faithful, who had been proceeding east on McKenzie. There was considerable damage to both cars but no one was injured.

The wet spell is also considered responsible for a minor street cave-in at the corner of Begbie and Gladstone.

A car which crashed through a barricade at Scott Street left a trail of dirt two-and-a-half blocks long at the end of which was the barricade sign.

The accident was unreported.

The weatherman predicted continued unsettled conditions, with cloudy skies and showers tonight and Thursday. Temperatures will be between 48 and 56 degrees, he said, and winds will be westerly at 15 miles.

Government MLA's today thwarted a CCF attempt to elect Larry Giovando (PC, Nanaimo) as chairman of the Legislature's labor committee.

William Moore (CCF, Comox), nominated the Tory, but John Teddale (SC, Saanich), nominated Herbert Bruch (SC, Esquimalt), convener of the committee meeting. Mr. Bruch won the election.

Result of the voting was not announced. There were nine government members and seven opposition at the meeting.

George Tomlinson (SC, North Vancouver), was named secretary.

Robert Strachan (CCF, Cowichan-Newcastle), asked if the committee had authority to call Labor minister Lyle Wicks and ask him what is being done about the present Interior loggers' strike.

The committee was informed it can only deal with matters coming from the Legislature.

ASK PARKS OUTLINE

The forestry and mining committee decided to call government representatives to outline the responsibilities of provincial park boards.

The committee wants the information in connection with its investigation of an "apparently unauthorized" $130,000 timber deal on Salt Spring Island in 1950.

The inquiry was requested by Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers.

A resolution calling for the probe, approved by the House, says an agreement for sale of the timber was signed in 1950 by the Mount Maxwell Park Board of Ganges and QLK Logging Company. The agreement was assigned to Mohan Singh.

It developed later that the timber was within the limits of Mount Bruce Provincial Park, and the Mount Maxwell board apparently had no authority to sell it.

The Coalition government had plans to have the Legislature ratify the agreement, but the government was defeated and nothing was done.

"Are we here to try and find fault or to establish a law to overcome the problem?" asked Gordon Gibson (Lib., Lillooet).

Ray Williston (SC, Fort George), committee chairman, said the committee must present a recommendation to the Legislature.

Court Dismisses Charge Arising From Resort Sale

A charge that Pemberton, Holmes Ltd., city real estate firm, had contravened the Real Estate Licensing Act in regard to a Parkville summer resort transfer was dismissed in city court today by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

The action stemmed from an information laid by the purchasers of Arbutus Beach Cottages, Mr. and Mrs. James I. Hurst. Mr. Hurst said Pemberton, Holmes Ltd., acting for the sellers, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Moore, had failed to provide a statement of last year's profit and loss, or a statement of assets and liabilities.

Counsel for the defense, George Gregory, told the court the deal was understood by all parties concerned to be a transfer not of a business but of real estate only.

He said the Moore's had operated the resort as a pastime only and no records had been kept.

Representing the plaintiff was Terrence P. O'Grady.

He held that the buyers had committed themselves financially in prospect of business revenues.

On the advice that an action is pending in B.C. Supreme Court for damages, Magistrate Hall dismissed the charge.

Wave of Petty Thefts Here; Woman Grapples With Thief

A wave of thefts of money from milk bottles was reported by city police today.

One householder nearly caught the culprit in one incident on Green Street.

Milkmen say that cash has been regularly disappearing from bottles put out by residents of the 2500 block Prior and on the 2600 block St. Stephen.

Mrs. R. E. Stratton, 931 Green Street, told police she had disturbed a youth in the act of robbing her milk bottles Tuesday morning. She grappled with the boy, about 14, but he broke away.

She said he was apparently on his way to school at 8:30 a.m. He was carrying books and wore a blue jacket and grey trousers.

A wallet was taken from the clothing of Irwin Street 919 Johnson, while he was swimming at the YMCA Tuesday evening. He told police he lost his personal papers and about $13.

About $50 was stolen from the Victoria Bakeries Ltd. by a night prowler who spread bars on a bathroom window some time Tuesday night. The money was in small change, ready for deliverymen this morning.

Nothing was stolen when someone smashed a window in a car parked on Oxford Street, between 8 and 10 p.m. Tuesday night. The car belongs to Ernie Bowden, 260 Ontario.

Milk Price Decontrol Held Political Payoff

Island Dairymen Foresee Ruin; Fraser Valley Farms Benefit

Charges of political overtones in the milk price decontrol order, to become effective Oct. 1, were made in a stormy meeting of Vancouver Island dairymen in Nanaimo Tuesday.

The dairymen claim the order will result in eventual elimination of milk production on the Island, to the benefit of Fraser Valley producers.

"It is very obvious that Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan is 'paying off' the Fraser Valley voters at the expense of Vancouver Island milk production," said George Wyndlow, Yellow Point, in a separate statement.

The dairymen claimed decontrol order regulations will give Fraser Valley a permanent share of the island market. Each producer will be given a quota, based on his production in three winter months, and the Fraser Valley's year-round share will be equal to its shipments to the island during those same months.

"We have no way of ever getting it back," said Henry G. Robinson, secretary-manager of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association. "It will affect every man on Vancouver Island who does business with farmers."

Mr. Robinson said it is impossible to increase one's quota under the regulations, and nearly impossible for a newcomer to enter the business or start a herd.

"He will have to buy an existing dairy farm. He can't build up his own," Mr. Robinson said.

Dairymen rose repeatedly to protest as E. C. Carr, milk board chairman, described the quota system.

"Decontrol is on retail prices only," Mr. Robinson said. "Controls on producers are doubled."

"The farmers are going to be sunk," said D. D. Chapman, president of Island Farms Co-operative Association. "When quotas are set in February they will be fixed forever. The door will be closed to newcomers."

"Assuming we have to take 100 cans of milk daily from the Fraser Valley in the winter months, then we have to take those same 100 cans every day all summer long," Mr. Chapman said. "The Island producers will just have to throw their surplus down the drain."

The accused, who admitted to a criminal record including car theft, indecent assault, and 11 charges of breaking and entering since 1945, told Magistrate H. C. Hall he had only been out of jail for eight months.

"I have never asked for anything before, but I am getting married soon," he said, pleading for suspended sentence.

Also remanded, this time until October 2, was Robert H. Allen, who is charged with indecent assault and falsely representing himself as a police officer.

HOUSE SPEAKERS

J. A. Reid (SC, Salmon), the member whose attack on the province's educational system caused a furore at the last session, will take part in the Throne Speech debate in the Legislature Thursday.

Other speakers will be Health Minister Eric Martin and E. E. Winch (CCF, Burnaby).

THUMB PRINTS ON CHEQUES. POLICE DEMAND

Canadians may soon have to thumb print every cheque cashed.

Delegates to the annual convention of the Chief Constables of Canada Association at Vancouver are expected to make that recommendation.

The chiefs are also out to gain standardization of traffic laws, signals and controls.

Two Polio Cases Swell Local Total In Isolation Ward

Two new polio victims were admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital's isolation centre Tuesday. They bring to 77 the year's total in this area.

The latest cases are a Saanich woman, in her 20s, and a 15-year-old boy from Sidney.

A Girl Guide swimming gala scheduled for Oct. 16 has been postponed because of the high polio incidence. The event will be rescheduled when medical authorities again approve such athletic gatherings.

Post-polio patients from Victoria, Saanich and Esquimalt filled beds at Queen Alexandra Solarium almost as quickly as they became available, and further admissions are anticipated.

Members of the Solarium board of directors were told Tuesday that eight children had been admitted in the last 10 days.

Although the Solarium does not treat polio cases in the acute stages, it cares for the children through their long rehabilitation period. A minimum of six months is expected, and some may need much more time, directors were told.

Reeve Sidney Pickles said: "One needs little imagination to realize the difficult position of the various organizations who look to the Community Chest for their financial support if any lack of public contributions restrict their ability to carry on their good work."

Therefore, it is hoped that every citizen will give the campaign their maximum support."

Victoria 'Down' With Series Fever

Higher education is all right at times, but who can concentrate when "Dem Bums" are battling the Yanks for the championship of the world? Jon Stott is present in body, not in spirit, at Oak Bay Junior High School as Principal R. B. Kipling suggests a little more work on scholastic, not batting averages. It was the same all over Victoria today as world series fever once again mounted to great heights. TV sets in store windows and hotel lobbies were surrounded by fans; hotels reported radio rentals at a new high; and countless business executives found it convenient to take bulging briefcases home to "work" with a 21-inch screen gleaming in the background. Catsup Trouble? Drips? Mess? Give This Tomato a Squeeze!

By PENNY SAVER

I have a feeling that tomato catsup is being neglected . . . simply because of the old-fashioned bottle it's sold in. No matter what make of catsup you buy, you get a container that's good-for-nothing after use, and while in use is a gooey mess. Everyone knows how unappetizing catsup is when the drips around the rim of the bottle have come in contact with the metal lid and turned an unsightly brown color . . . okay, okay, I know that if the bottle is wiped off every time it's used, this won't happen, but what if you're in a hurry . . . what then, huh? Just as I said, a mucky mess!

No other sauce can substitute for catsup when it comes to smothering hamburgers, but many's the time we've used something else, simply because it comes in a easy-to-use dispenser bottle.

But no more! Ah, at last someone's manufactured a flexible plastic dispenser for catsup. You can empty practically the whole bottle of sauce into the plump tomato, which, being transparent, looks like the real thing when full of that barbecue "must." Making it look even more realistic is the hull and stem lid of bright green plastic.

As for directions, they can be summed up in one word . . . squeeze! What happens then? You get as much catsup as you're wanting (depending upon whether you give the bottle a pinch or a punch) and it comes out in a messless spurt, leaving everything, bottle, hands and tablecloth, clean and tidy. You can get this wonder-squeeze tomato for $1.

Looks like pearls, but they're not! Nope, just plastic again.

Pink pearlized plastic has been molded into dozens of "beads" to form this wallet, and you can't lose any of them because they're really not beads at all . . . just bumps on the plastic. This wallet has the usual change purse, bill compartment and picture leaves and can be purchased for $1.95. If you have a yen for blue pearlized plastic, you can get one, but in a different pattern. Same price though.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Easy To Be a Tubby Hubby Here's How to Get Over It

If you have been reading "Why Grow Old?" for the past several days, you know that I am running my Tubby Hubby Reducing diet. No wonder overweight is one of our national health problems! It is so pleasantly acquired and creeps up on us so gradually.

If the man in your life is adopting this diet for twelve days I know you mothers and sisters and daughters and wives will cheer him on with real help and interest. I want to call your attention to the fact that these diets are well rounded and balanced. They supply the essentials for good nutrition. You do not have to plan two sets of meals, one for Tubby Hubby and one for the rest of you.

You can add calories to the diet he uses by an addition of more butter, whole milk instead of skimmed, desserts and the various trimmings. You can also give other members of the family larger helpings or seconds.

Remember, though, that the reducing diet for men has more calories than the ones I plan for women and beware of adding too much or you will find yourself gaining while your husband is losing.

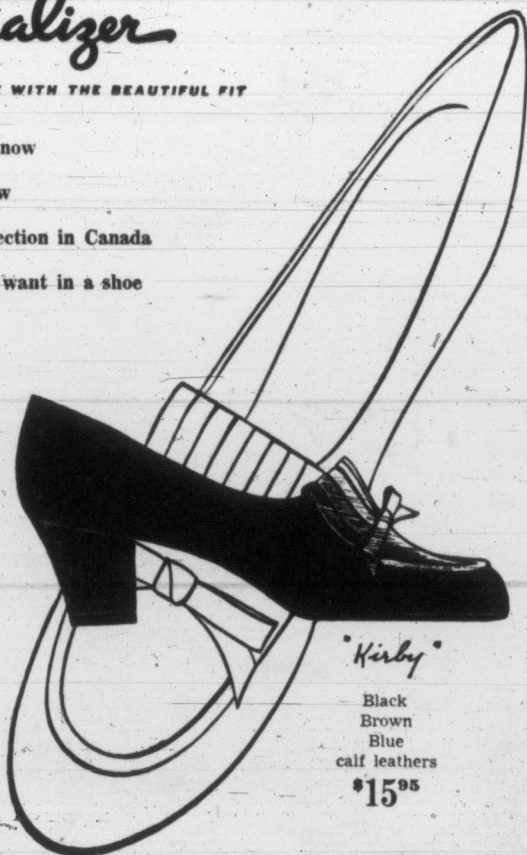

The man who is fond of pies and desserts of all kinds will miss them at first but before long they will seem unimportant to him. Anyway the most vital factor in any reducing routine is for the reducer to make up his mind absolutely that he will stick to the diet for the time he decides on, with no back sliding. Father's Excessive Fears Make Girl Social Recluse

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

When a parent is so unreasonable that he will not discuss a problem affecting his child's happiness, the time has come for outside help. That is the advice I am giving this girl:

(Q) "I am 15 years old and a sophomore in high school. I have the serious problem of not being allowed to have girl friends come to my house or to go out on dates with boys. The trouble is not with my mother but with my dad. He says he doesn't want anything to happen to me. I can sit down and talk over this problem with Mom and she is very understanding, but Dad isn't. How should I approach Dad to show him that he isn't doing me any good in stopping my social life?"

(A) If your father is so unreasonable about your doing the things other girls your age do, I question very much whether anything you said or did would have any effect. If anything it might make him more stubborn and unreasonable.

Instead of talking directly to your father about this matter, why don't you and your mother go to see the minister of your church? Talk over your problem with him and let your mother explain why she has not been able to make any headway. Then ask your minister if he will not call on your father and talk over the whole matter with him.

Many fathers, reading and hearing about the things teenage girls are doing and the troubles they get into, are frightened that the same things will happen to their own daughters. This may explain your own father.

But I don't see why he won't permit you to have your girl friends to your home or allow you to go to theirs. I also cannot understand why you are not permitted to go to parties in girls' homes or at school or church. If he escorted you to and from evening parties you could have the fun other girls are having without having "anything happen to you."

You are right in feeling that your father is handicapping you very seriously. Try your best to correct this situation.

If you have a problem about family or friend, ask Dr. Hurlock to help you. Write in care of this newspaper.

Yukon Wedding For Sidney Girl

The Army Chapel at Whitehorse, Y.T., was scene of a wedding recently when Jessie Margaret, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Forbes, McTavish Road, Sidney, V.I., became the bride of Capt. Joseph D. Mackintosh, RCAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Mackintosh, Halifax, N.S.

The bride chose an off-white suit with small matching feather hat for her wedding ensemble, and wore a corsage of red roses and white heather. Mrs. Ted Young, the bride's only attendant, chose a maroon suit with matching hat and corsage of pink feathered carnations. Capt. Ted Young was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Young. Brig. J. Love proposed the toast to the bride's happiness.

Leaving by plane for a short honeymoon at Juneau, Alaska, Mrs. Mackintosh donned a rose beige tweed topcoat over her wedding suit. Capt. and Mrs. Mackintosh will live at Whitehorse, where he is attached to headquarters of the Northwest Highway System.

Opera, Royal Garden Party Top Memories

Attractive Miss Joyce Menzies, 1440 Hampshire Road, returned to Victoria on Sunday afternoon after spending a year abroad in England, Scotland, Wales and France. She left the city last November, traveling to London, where she worked for several months.

While in London she went to the first English performance of Gounod's opera, "Romeo and Juliet," and also a performance of "Aida" at Covent Garden. Mary Martin in "South Pacific," the famous musical now playing in London, rated high on Miss Menzies' list of favorite performances, and she attended many cocktail and garden parties.

"I liked London very much," she said, "but I wouldn't want to live there. Why, the fog was so bad that it even rotted my woolen clothes, and curtains in some homes fell off the windows."

Miss Menzies left London in May to tour Great Britain from Land's End to Inverness, finally deciding that peaceful Windsor would be the best place to make a home, although Stratford-on-Avon took her fancy also, with its old world charm.

She traveled to Paris, and there bought a Dior hat which she later wore at a garden party at Buckingham Palace when she returned to London to attend the Coronation.

In Paris she visited such historic sites as the Palace of Versailles and she was a guest at the Dominion Day reception at the Canadian Embassy.

"I would like to return to Paris to study singing," she said hopefully, "for there is so much musical opportunity there."

MISS JOYCE MENZIES

Miss Menzies' mother, Mrs. H. Menzies, drove to Quebec to meet her daughter and together they returned via the United States to Victoria.

Conservatory Alumni Presents Exam Awards

Following a short business meeting of the Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto Alumni last evening, with president Mrs. John Gough in the chair, at the home of Miss Helen Gibson, 670 Linkleas Avenue, Alumni awards were presented to Miss Shirley Russell, pupil of Phyllis Hicks, for obtaining the highest mark in the grade five piano examination, and to Mrs. Olive Brown, pupil of Mrs. D. L. Gilbert, for obtaining the highest mark in the grade seven piano examination.

The Victoria Sextette, under the direction of Mrs. T. H. Johns and consisting of Peggy Moore, Thelma Johns, Gladys Gillie, Marjory Goodwin, Alys Howes and Nell Gillespie, accompanied by Dorothy Gough, sang a group of madrigals.

Mrs. T. W. Grey gave an interesting talk on her recent visit to Stratford to attend the Stratford Shakespearean Festival. Mrs. Merle Chandler presented a gift to Miss Isobel Pike, a former president of the Alumni, in honor of her forthcoming marriage. A vote of thanks to the hostess was moved by Mrs. D. L. Gilbert.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. M. Chandler and Mrs. D. L. Gilbert. Miss Fern Rath and Miss Lorna Langley were servers.

Colwood Women's Institute fall tea, Douglas Room, Hudson's Bay Company, Thursday. Everyone welcome.

Bringing Up Baby

A baby, about to sample his first spoonful of cereal, is both amusing and a bit pathetic. He screws up his little face (he may be pleased, indignant or just plain puzzled) and often spits out the cereal on contact. You can hardly blame baby, since the taste and texture of the food, the feeling of the spoon as strange. But patience does pay rewarding dividends, especially if you follow these simple suggestions: don't force. Serve only the tiniest amounts, placed as far back on the tongue as possible. If baby doesn't respond, wait a few days before trying again. Before you know it he will have mastered the art of swallowing and start to enjoy solids.

Introductions made easy. Starting baby on cereals will be a simple transition if you offer Gerber's Cereals. (They're made by the specialists who know how to make the smooth textures that feel extra-nice on little tongues.) And Gerber's five different Cereals have the bland, pleasing flavor infants prefer... are enriched with calcium, iron and the B-Vitamins so important to growing bodies.

Color Cue. As baby advances in eating adventures color becomes increasingly important. Many a balky eater has turned into a beaming "second-helping" eater when offered foods that look good as well as taste good.

Vitamin C—for the new baby! Once baby (or babies) arrives, it will be no time at all before he's ready for that all-important Vitamin C. Gerber's Orange Juice, prepared just for tiny infants, is the answer. For Gerber's Orange Juice is made from tree-ripened oranges, selected for high Vitamin C content and mild, natural flavor. It's specially pasteurized and extra-finely strained to go through nursing bottle nipples.

Ex-RCAF Clerk From Courtenay Digging Her Way to Unusual Career

LONDON (CP) — Katherine Capes of Courtenay, V.I., works for the British Railways all day, studies in the evenings and spends her week-ends probing for relics left by the dwellers of ancient Britain.

The schedule established by the grey-haired, ex-RCAF radar clerk is premeditated. She drew it up after she'd gone as far as she could in studying archaeology in Canada.

So, to further an archaeological interest whetted by west coast Indian middens—garbage heaps left 100 or more years ago — she came to Britain in 1951, aware she must work her way.

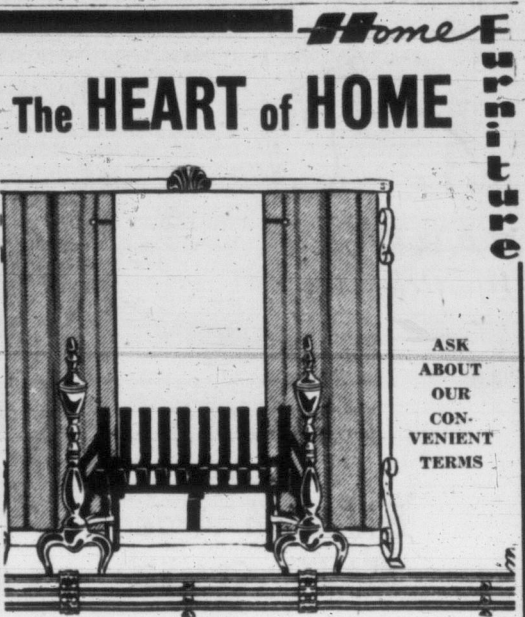

Miss Capes started in the soil mechanics laboratory of the railways' civil engineering department and found the job fitted well with her studies at London University. It entitled her to the cut-price rail tickets issued to railway workers for private journeys. Thus she spend less on the week-end trips she currently makes to a Roman villa and barn under excavation in Kent.

Miss Capes credits her RCAF demobilization grant with starting her academic career. She took a general arts course at the University of British Columbia, where student "digs" were organized to sift through the Indian mounds. Then she headed east seeking more knowledge. Veteran courses took her through a diploma in anthropology at the University of Toronto.

Her chief disappointment here has been that London University does not teach the archaeological history of North America, although it touches India, Africa, Asia and Europe.

Miss Capes expects to take her London diploma next June. Then she'll return to Canada in the hope that she can pursue archaeology there.

Fall Rally of WMS

Over 60 Women's Missionary Society workers from Victoria attended the fall rally of the Victoria and Island Presbyterian of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church, held at St. Andrew's Church, Nanaimo, recently. A box luncheon in the Sunday school hall was followed by a meeting presided over by Mrs. W. J. McIntyre, Presbyterian president. Reports were presented by presidents of the nine up-island societies and were followed by a skit on the new study book, given by members of the executive.

Following a worship service conducted by Mrs. McIntyre, Miss Jeanie King, former port missionary at Montreal, gave an address with the theme, "The World Is One."

Her talk ranged over her 40 years as port missionary and her experiences with new Canadians. Mrs. R. Bewell spoke on highlights of her visit as delegate to the Dominion Board Conference in Toronto.

By way of preliminary remark, it may be said that this writer will not use up many calories in walking three miles a day. Obviously she needs a

Lytton Hospital Closes; No Nurses

LYTTON, B.C. (CP)—All five nurses at the 27-bed St. Bartholomew's Hospital—here have resigned and the institution has "ceased operations."

Administrator J. R. Carpenter said the hospital has been refusing patients for several days, but that partial reopening is expected Oct. 6 with the arrival of two new nurses.

Resignations, he said, were prompted by nurses transferring to other hospitals.

Champlain's Tomb Found in Basement Of Que. Restaurant

QUEBEC (CP)—An Ontario archaeologist Tuesday cleared up an obscure phase of Canadian history and indicated a centuries-old dispute surrounding the burial place of French explorer Samuel de Champlain may be solved.

Wilfred Jury, curator of the University of Western Ontario Museum, London, Ont., told a press conference ruins uncovered in the basement of an uptown restaurant "appear undoubtedly" to be the foundations of a chapel where the founder of Quebec was buried in 1635.

diet of less than 1500 calories if she is to lose her fifteen pounds and get back to her normal weight.

The amount of energy used in a day varies from one person to another—a farmer or lumberman will use more than someone who sits all day at a desk. Consequently, a diet which will enable one person to shed unwanted poundage will be more than enough for another.

The heat and fat producing value of foods is measured in calories. Excess calories can be stored as fat, so for practical purposes if more calories are taken in than are used up, a person will gain weight.

The reverse is also true and reducing diets should be carefully planned so they contain enough of the necessary food-stuffs rich in protein, minerals and vitamins.

In general, a reducing diet should be low in fats and in starches or carbohydrates since the latter are converted into fat by the body. As a rule fatty foods and those containing starch have to be almost eliminated to lose weight and their place taken by bulky foods which have fewer calories.

PEOPLE DON'T KNOW

Many people, too, do not realize whole milk is more fattening than skim milk and some vegetables and fruit contain a lot more carbohydrate than others.

Those desiring to lose should have a diet for them containing whatever number of calories they will need. If the diet is followed rigidly the loss of weight will show up soon and after a while the stomach seems to adjust to smaller quantities of food so that dieting becomes easier.

ABORIGINAL BUCK FEVER

Archer Draws Bow on Deer But Cannot Let Arrow Fly

COURTENAY, B.C.—A troop of 10 archers came over from Vancouver over the week end and spent two days hunting in the Sayward forest area. Stan Brooke of Vancouver was fortunate in shooting a buck; several others had shots at deer but failed to make a hit. Stan Brooke is an expert archer having won the Canadian broadhead championship two years ago. He is one of Canada's best tackle makers.

The hunters chuckled when they told of one of their number who sighted a buck, drew his arrow back, then for the life of him, couldn't let go of the string... buck fever in the aboriginal state.

BESSIE IN JAPAN

"Exciting tonic for a young man!" the elderly Japanese said, his round wrinkled face lightened by memories, his weak eyes twinkling behind old-fashioned steel-rimmed glasses.

"That one article changed my whole life," he said hoefully. "I forgot the silk industry and went out looking for my first good print. Soon I had a small collection and I opened my store in this place."

That was in 1912. That same year he made his first sale to an American woman from St. Louis. He has her name in an old autograph album.

That autograph album is filled with names, some famous—many unknown. Not everyone who has bought prints from Mr. Kondo has been asked to sign the album. Only those who love good wood block prints.

Among them is Marshall Gould, who came to Mr. Kondo in 1934 to buy authentic Japanese prints for the Boston Museum.

"We met several times," Mr. Kondo told us in a quiet, well-satisfied way. "and he took many of my prints with him when he returned to America."

As we talked, Mrs. Kondo brought out the portfolios and knelt beside her husband, who presented them to us one at a time. He opened the books with reverent hands... slowly turning the prints. And as he turned, explaining to us the difference between them. Told us of the artists... when they lived... how they worked.

The sun's rays shifted across the room as the minutes of the afternoon sped swiftly away. A black and white cat with a silver bell around its neck, drowsed on a corner of the platform. Mr. Kondo's quiet voice held us still and interested.

Both Mary and I wanted a print... but he would not let us make a quick choice. First, we must choose three... and from the three... pick just one.

"Then it will be truly yours," he said.

The dust motes danced in the sunlight and the old man's voice slowed and was still. We were nearing our choice!

With a rattle and bang the rice paper doorway was suddenly thrust back and left wide open. Three western women came in. (Believe it or not, they had their hair in pin curls and were wearing kerchiefs on their heads. One of the younger ones was even chewing gum.)

The sunlight bounced in the shadows, the black and white cat scooted out the wide open door. Mrs. Kondo rushed after the cat, scolding in Japanese!

"Say," said the youngest of the three. "Have you still got those loose prints? We want two of them!"

"Yes," said Mr. Kondo, "will you please sit down."

"We're in a hurry, Sue," said the oldest woman. "No time for sitting. Pa will worry if we're late."

Mrs. Kondo came back with the cat. Mr. Kondo asked our pardon in leaving us for a moment. And the prints of the white roses on a smudgy black background were brought out.

Watching, we saw an amazing scene! An old man proud of his work and of his reputation, explaining to three women who did not know good work... only what they liked or did not like)... two sets of the same prints... one lot signed originals, the other copies.

"He says this lot is the best," said the oldest woman. "What do you think, Sue?"

"Feels like heavier paper," said Sue.

"Well, if it's heavier paper, let's take them," the third woman remarked. "After all, it's the paper that counts. Lasts longer if it's heavier."

Mr. Kondo's lips came tight and sharp together. But his thin hands quickly sorted the set of originals. His wife wrapped them up.

WELL CHOSEN
The door scratched back once more... Mrs. Kondo held the cat. And the three women were bowed politely out of the little shop.

Quiet descended. Mr. Kondo was kneeling once more on the cushion before us. He picked up the two prints Mary Russell had chosen... the one I had put aside from the others. "You have chosen well!" was all he said.

His son, whom he had told us was attending Kyoto University, had come in shortly before and quickly changed to a kimono. It was he who wrapped our prints.

Then we bowed. Pulled the rice paper door softly open. Bowed once again.

And left an old man sitting cross-legged on a cushion, gently placing his beautiful prints back in their various portfolios.

'KANSAS CITY SKYSCRAPER' BAN PROPOSED IN VICTORIA

"Kansas City skyscrapers"—the kind that go seven storeys high—wouldn't be allowed in Victoria under the new, proposed zoning regulations framed by Victoria Town Planning Commission and now under consideration by city council.

The new by-law would limit the height of new buildings to a maximum of six storeys, or 75 feet, and such buildings could only be built in what would be classified as "commercial" areas.

The commission's first-draft by-law would limit the height of apartment houses in multiple-dwelling districts to three storeys, or 45 feet.

Home Industries Recognized By Proposed Zoning By-Law

Home occupations would be recognized under the new zoning by-law which the Victoria Town Planning Commission has submitted to City Council for consideration.

The by-law would allow householders in single family areas to make, service or repair articles in their homes provided that:

1. Not more than two persons were engaged in the occupation, live on the premises and neither be employed by the other.
2. No stock in trade be kept on the premises beyond that for immediate requirement.
3. No articles produced be sold on the premises.
4. The occupation not require machinery, tools or equipment which might cause a noise or create a nuisance.

SOME MISTAKE

WINLATON, England (CP)—Police are searching for the man who took the first prize of a silver cigarette case and lighter at this Durham community's gardening contest. He wasn't the winner.

100,000 New Phones Installed in Last Five Years!

...300,000th PHONE INSTALLED THIS WEEK

One hundred thousand more telephones in the last five years—that's the record of the B.C. Telephone Company. Since 1948 an average of 20,000 telephones has been installed each year to meet the demands of Canada's fastest growing province.

In five years the telephone company has done what it took 21 years to do before. The previous 100,000 telephones were added between 1927 and 1948 and the first hundred thousand took almost twice as long.

Yes, the telephone company is expanding swiftly, increasing both in number of subscribers and quality of service in the face of B.C.'s tremendous population growth. But it's not over yet—right now projects have been approved totalling some twenty-five million dollars... $25,000,000 for the expansion and improvement of Canada's second and largest telephone system.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A record-breaking $35,000,000 spending program in the next five years for construction of services in pace with Vancouver's growth was recommended Tuesday by the city's technical planning committee.

Under the scheme, the city would spend more than $19,000,000 on public works, close to $10,000,000 on schools and more than $1,000,000 each for health and social services, park board, library board and electrical work.

Yanks Win 9-5

NEW YORK (UP)—Joe Collins hit a seventh-inning home run to break a 5-5 tie and lead the New York Yankees to a 9-5 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the first game of the world baseball series today.

Billy Martin, the Yanks' aggressive second baseman, was the big gun in New York's four-run first inning. Billy tagged starter Carl Erskine for a three-run triple, a solid line drive that zoomed into right center. Earlier in the first, outfielder Hank Bauer tripled across the first Yankee run.

SEEK FIFTH STRAIGHT

The Yanks—out to become the first club ever to win five straight world series titles—put the frosting on the first game cake with a three-run eighth-inning spurge.

Winning pitcher Johnny Sain drove in two of those runs and scored the other.

Dodger fans among the 59,374 jammed into flag-draped Yankee Stadium this sunny, breezy afternoon had little reason to cheer until the fifth.

Then Junior Gilliam homered with one out.

In the sixth, the Dodgers really went to work and chased Reynolds, Gil Hodges, who had three hits on the day, homered into the left field stands.

That was Hodges' first hit in his last 24 world series times at bat.

Carl Furillo flied out, and Yankee fans breathed easier. But not for long.

Billy Cox, next up, singled to center, and the managerial wheels started spinning. Manager Chuck Dressen decided to send in George Shuba to pinch-hit for relief pitcher Jim Hughes.

And Shuba made the strategy look good with his first world series homer.

That's when Johnny Sain came on to relieve Reynolds. The tall, tobacco-chewing Sain got the Yanks out of that jam without further scoring. But in the next inning the Dodgers tied it up to set the stage for Collins' home run.

Short score—
New York (A) 9 0 0 1 0 0—5 12 2
Brooklyn (N) 5 0 0 0 1 0—3 12 2

HIGHLIGHTS

1. Cocktail bars to be allowed in hotels, clubs, resorts and military messes with special accommodation.
2. Sale of drinks by the glass to be permitted in night clubs, supper clubs, cabarets and certain types of restaurants.
3. Beer and wine sale to be allowed with meals in other types of licenses for hotels, restaurants, clubs, railway cars, steamships and resorts.
4. Beer parlors to remain about as now, with sale restricted to beer and light refreshments, and to be known as public houses.
5. All beer parlors, clubs and veterans' clubs must apply for new licenses after Dec. 31, 1953, complying with new style of licensing.
6. Drinks licenses will be submitted to local option votes, but only if objections are raised by petition of 35 per cent of the voters in an area, or by municipal authorities. A 55 per cent vote against licenses will be required to block them.
7. Only clubs not operated "for pecuniary profit" to get licenses.

Detailed Provisions Of Licensing Plan

Here, in summary, is the official government explanation of the new type of liquor licenses for serving drinks by the glass.

Basically, the effect of the new act is to provide for the sale of liquor by the glass in establishments licensed for that purpose. Four types of license are provided for, as follows:

(a) Dining-Room License—This type of license may be issued to hotels, restaurants, clubs, railway-cars, steamships, and resorts which are able to comply with the regulations with regard to the accommodation provided for the public and facilities installed for the proper handling of this service. It will authorize the consumption of malt liquor and wines with meals.

(b) Dining-Lounge License—This is similar to the dining-room license, but will authorize the sale and consumption of spirituous liquors with meals in addition to malt liquor and wine. It will be issued to night clubs, supper clubs, cabarets, and certain restaurants, whether connected with hotels or not, which will not be required to serve regular meals throughout the day but only one or two meals in the evening.

(c) Lounge License—This license will be issued to what are commonly known as cocktail bars, and will authorize the sale and consumption on the premises of spirituous, vinous, or malt liquor. Only hotels, clubs, resorts, and military messes having the special accommodation and facilities prescribed by the regulations will be able to obtain this type of license.

(d) Public House License—This will authorize the sale and consumption on the premises of malt liquors and light refreshments. It takes the place of the old beer parlor license and may be issued in respect of premises whether or not they are attached to a hotel.

CHANGE IN CLUBS

No provision is made under the new act for beer licenses, club licenses, or veterans' club licenses as such. A club or a veterans' club will henceforth be able to apply for any one or all of the licenses provided for in the new act. However, provision is made under the new act for a continuation of existing beer, club, and veterans' club licenses until December 31, 1953, and the regulations existing under the repealed act will apply to those licenses during that time. The board is given power to renew these old licenses for the year ending December 31, 1954.

The holders of beer licenses, club licenses and veterans' club licenses for the year ending December 31, 1954, will be required to replace the licenses held under the repealed act.

Under the new act licenses will not be issued indiscriminately throughout the province. The board, with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, will first designate certain areas of the province as "licensing areas." The board will then fix the time within which it will receive applications for licenses and also the time after which it will proceed to consider and deal with the applications, and will give public notice on two occasions in a newspaper circulating in the licensing area designating licensing-area boundaries and advising of the means of securing a local-option vote on outlets.

FORMULA FOR VOTING

If, in the meantime, the municipal council or board of commissioners of a municipality having jurisdiction over the licensing area, or 35 per cent of the electors of the polling divisions within the licensing area, submit any or all of the following questions to a vote of the electors in the area, a plebiscite must be held. The questions that may be submitted are as follows:

(a) Are you in favor of the sale of beer, ale and stout only under a public-house license for consumption on licensed premises?

(b) Are you in favor of the sale of beer, ale, stout and wine only under a dining-room license for consumption with meals on licensed premises?

(c) Are you in favor of the sale of liquor under a dining-lounge license for consumption with meals on licensed premises?

(d) Are you in favor of the sale of liquor under a lounge license for consumption on licensed premises?

If no request or petition is received by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council within the time fixed, the board may thereafter issue licenses, within the area,

Night Clubs and Cabarets, Also Some Restaurants to Get Rights

The B.C. government's long-awaited new plan to govern the sale of liquor in British Columbia was unfolded in the Legislature this afternoon when Attorney-General Robert Bonner introduced the bill covering the changes.

The bill, which will make a revolutionary change in the liquor system, was drafted on the basis of investigations by a three-man commission headed by Harry H. Stevens following the plebiscite vote in 1952 in favor of sale of drinks by the glass.

In essence, the bill sets up four different types of licensing for the sale of drinks at retail.

A surprise was the much-talked-about "local option" clause. It provides that local option votes will be required only if petitions signed by 35% of the voters in an area are submitted as objections to granting licenses, or of municipal authorities object. In other words if no substantial objection is offered, licences can be granted without a vote.

The new plan, based largely on the theory that of making food available with liquor, is certain to become law because of the government's seven-man majority in the House.

It was given first reading this afternoon, but the main debate on it is not expected until next week.

It is the first major revamping of the province's liquor system in more than 30 years.

Four Types of Licenses

Four types of liquor licenses have been set up:

1. Dining room license—This type of license may be issued to hotels, restaurants, clubs, railway cars, steamships, and resorts which will be able to serve beer and wine only.

2. Dining-lounge license—This is similar to the dining-room license, but will authorize the sale of hard liquor by the glass and beer and wine, with meals. It will be issued to night clubs, supper clubs cabarets and certain restaurants—whether connected with a hotel or not.

Lounge License—This license will be issued to what are commonly called cocktail bars, and will authorize the sale of hard liquor, wines and beer. This license will only be given to hotels, clubs and resorts, military messes with special accommodation—clubs.

(No provision is made for cocktail bars as separate entities.)

Public house license—To take the place of beer parlor license. Very little change except that light refreshments can be served. Music is not allowed.

All present liquor licenses will continue until the end of the year, and the Liquor Control Board has the power to grant them again until the end of 1954. By that time it is expected the new system will be fully in effect.

Proprietary Clubs Restricted

The present so-called proprietary clubs apparently are facing restriction under the new act. The intention is that only non-profit clubs will be licensed.

This would seem to eliminate such clubs which would either have to change their makeup or go out of business.

Types of hotels to get liquor licenses is not strictly defined but will be left up to the Liquor Control Board with consent of the provincial cabinet.

No liquor by the glass will be served in guest rooms.

Here's how the local option will work: When municipal authorities or a petition signed by 35 per cent of electors objects to a license, then a vote can be taken and a license can be killed if 55 per cent of the electors in an area vote against the system.

Here's how the local option will work: When municipal authorities or a petition signed by 35 per cent of electors objects to a license, then a vote can be taken and a license can be killed if 55 per cent of the electors in an area vote against the system.

Ain't sure what th' gov'mint's going t' do about the beer parlors, but I sure wish they'd appoint a deputy minister in charge o' cheerin' 'em up.

of any of the four types authorized by the act.

If a request or petition is received, the questions as set out in the request or petition will be submitted to a vote of the electors of the polling divisions concerned, and if 55 per cent of the electors voting on the question vote in the affirmative, the board may thereafter issue licenses of the type indicated in the question of the licensing area.

Board Wants Alternative Vote Studied

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Board of Trade has launched a protest against the proposed elimination of B.C.'s alternative voting system.

In a letter to Premier W. A. C. Bennett, the board urged the government to defer action "until a complete study of and report on election procedures has been made by a committee of the present members of the Legislature."

"We reiterate our belief in the system of alternative voting and urge consideration of the recommendations made, not only by the Vancouver Board of Trade but also by the B.C. Chamber of Commerce and by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce," the board told the premier.

The board also recommended study be given to possible elimination of the present absentee ballot procedure, reduction of time between issuance of a writ and the election, and consideration of a new method of setting up voters' lists.

Kansas City Family Hears No Word of Kidnaped Child

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Cold-blooded kidnapers, apparently adopting delaying tactics, today kept the fate of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease from his anguished parents.

The child, son of a millionaire automobile dealer, was abducted two days ago while attending classes at the French Institute of Notre Dame de Sion, a private school.

A spokesman for the family said no contact with the person or persons holding the boy has been made. The father, Robert C. Greenlease, has said he believes professional criminals are involved, making it more likely Bobby will be released unharmed.

Police reported they have obtained no new information that would lead them to believe they are on the right trail.

Greenlease, through a banker friend, made arrangements to obtain cash at any time of the day or night should the need arise.

More than 2,000 volunteer canvassers, representing business and labor, armed services and housewives, unite early Thursday in a sweeping drive under the slogan: "A Generous Heart Is a Happy Heart."

Heading the list of Red Feather boosters is honorary patron of the fund, Lieut.-Gov. Clarence Wallace. He said: "Mrs. Wallace and I are very happy to endorse the efforts of the Greater Victoria Community Chest campaign committee. It is our earnest hope that the citizens of Greater Victoria will respond by contributing to the maximum of their ability."

MAYOR'S MESSAGE
Victoria Mayor Claude Harrison told residents today that "this year we must all be conscious of the requirements of those who are concerned with the less fortunate of our citizens."

"I earnestly hope that this year the financial objectives of the Community Chest will be realized. It fulfills a definite need."

"I appeal to each citizen to help. After all... we may ourselves need assistance some day."

REEVE'S REMINDER
Oak Bay residents were reminded of their civic responsibilities in a statement issued by Reeve P. A. Gibbs, M.L.A.:

"The 16 agencies of the Community Chest represent more than help for the needy, civic betterment or youth training. They represent a lesson in everyday Christianity."

"I join with the citizens of Oak Bay in gratitude to the Community Chest for keeping the 'Love-Thy-Neighbor' spirit alive. May everyone heed the call and offer unqualified support."

ENDORSEMENT
Heartily endorsing the campaign also was Reeve Joseph Casey of Saanich.

"If it were not for the Community Chest a much larger burden would fall on the individual taxpayer. Saanich has never been slow to accept its share of such a worthwhile project. I know the Red Feather drive will fight through to its objective with Saanich behind it. We wish the Community Chest Godspeed."

In Esquimalt, Reeve A. C. Wurtele added a message to the flood of official comment heralding the launching of the drive.

"This year's slogan seems very apt. A generous heart is indeed a happy heart and we are all happy to see the drive launched."

Allies Claim 22,000 PWs 'Sold Out'

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—Allied officers charged angrily today that the neutral nations' repatriation commission had sold out some 22,000 anti-Communist prisoners to the Reds, but were told there would be "no appeal" from the commission ruling.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the NNRC, refused to withdraw "ground rules" under which explanations from both sides will try to persuade reluctant prisoners of war to go home.

"There is no appeal from the commission ruling," Thimayya said. Thimayya said the ground rules, bitterly protested by the United Nations as a "sellout," were adopted by a unanimous vote of the five-nation commission.

The commission includes Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia, Sweden, Switzerland and India.

UN officials had charged the principle of voluntary repatriation "has been murdered" by the rules, which required every prisoner to attend counter-braintwashing sessions even if he does not want to.

They voiced their sentiments shortly after the NNRC handed down their 23-point set of rules which permit the Reds to interview 22,000 anti-Communist prisoners individually and as often as they desire.

Thimayya was obviously irked at UN criticism.

Korea Parley Out, Vishinsky Informs UN

Insists Neutrals Must Be Included

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Andre Vishinsky told the United Nations today there is "no possibility" for a Korean political conference unless the UN reconsiders its decision barring neutral countries from taking part.

The chief Russian delegate refused to the decision last month to exclude neutrals from the conference, scheduled to open by Oct. 28.

He demanded that the 60-nation political committee immediately take up a debate on suggestions from Communist China and North Korea that India and other neutrals be invited and that Russia also be asked to sit in as a neutral.

He rejected a proposal by chief U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge that the conference decide for itself whether to invite some neutral powers.

OPPOSED INVITATION

It will be impossible to give delegates the proper instructions to do so, he declared, and charged that the countries which opposed an invitation to India and other neutrals will continue their opposition at the conference.

Referring to Allied claims that more debate here would disturb the prospects of a successful conference, Vishinsky asked:

"How can anyone say we should not disturb the peace conference if there is no peace conference?"

Before the meeting, Britain and the United States were confident they had enough votes to prevent reopening of debate on the question. Whether Vishinsky's warning on possible collapse of conference plans would have an adverse effect was not immediately apparent.

Piccards Descend 10,330 Feet Under Tyrrhenian Sea

OFF PONZA ISLAND, Italy (AP)—Professor Auguste Piccard and his son, Jacques, rode their 32-foot diving box, Trieste, deeper into the sea today than living man ever has gone—to a depth of almost two miles.

The Italian Navy said the Swiss-born scientist and his son touched the bottom of the Tyrrhenian Sea in the record plunge, equal to 10,330 feet.

The navy gave the time of the dive as two hours and 12 minutes. The 3,150-metre plunge would beat the record of two French naval officers by 1,600 metres.

Two Italian naval corvettes were standing by as the father and son dropped into the depths, culminating months of trials and frustrations in their stubby diving boat.

1,600 Gold Miners May Return to Work

MILLARD WILL SEND MEN BACK AT HOLLINGER IF ISSUES ARE SUBMITTED TO ARBITRATION

TORONTO (BUP)—C. H. Millard, national director of the Steelworkers' Union, agreed today to ask 1,600 strikers to go back to work at the big Hollinger Gold Mine, to submit the issues to an arbitrator.

Jules Timmins, president of Hollinger, had already said he was ready to open the mine at any time. He had no immediate answer to Millard's request.

Millard said in a telegram to Labor Minister Charles Daley that he was referring Daley's request that the Hollinger strikers go back to work to the membership with "our advice that the proposal he accepted providing Mr. Timmins agrees in advance that the remaining issues of wages, hours and union security be immediately submitted to a mutually agreed arbitrator of national standing."

He also asked Daley to let him know in the meantime what steps were being taken, if any, to bring about settlements at Pamour and Auror Mines, where the union is threatening to strike, and at five other strike-bound mines.

The union head had told Daley earlier that he was willing to hold off the Auror and Pamour strikes if Daley wanted to "take steps to settle these disputes."

WITH BESSIE IN JAPAN

Kondo (no one seems to know his first name) had his collection of authentic old wood block prints, and where he re-sold certain prints for the yen that gave him his daily bowl of rice.

We saw a raised floor covered with well-padded tatamis. A small gold leaf screen shadowed with delicate traceries and a brocade cushion placed in front of the screen.

We sat on cushioned seats just below the edge of this floor. Yochi, who is writing stories of Japanese children, Vancouverite Mary Russell and me.

And when we were seated Mr. Kondo joined us, slipping through a curtain in the shadows at the rear of the store. It was a hot day, and he was dressed in a blue and white striped kimono. Spotlessly clean white tabi (Japanese split-toed

Little Girl Struck At Douglas and Ralph

A three-year-old Saanich girl is in critical condition at Jubilee Hospital after being struck by a truck at 11 a.m. today, across the street from her home on Douglas Street at Ralph Avenue.

Little Sharon Carrington suffered serious internal injuries and a fractured leg.

Her condition was "poor" at press time.

Eyewitnesses told police the truck, driven by William S. McPherson, 1825 Fairfield, was proceeding south on Douglas. The little girl, they said, was seated on steps on the west side of the road, and was struck when she stepped out onto the hard top.

The accident occurred directly across the street from her home, at 3937 Douglas. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Carrington, moved there recently.

The point where she was struck is about 50 feet from the intersection of Douglas and Ralph. Fire marks indicated the truck's brakes were applied quickly.

This portion of Douglas Street forms part of the new Pat Bay highway, and residents of the district have been agitating for safety precautions. (See story, picture, Page 17.)

The truck is owned by James MacPherson, painter, father of the driver.

Neighbors said this morning the little girl had been carefully trained not to cross the road unaccompanied, and was usually obedient to her instructions.

Her mother was in the house at the time, they said, believing that Sharon was playing in the back yard.

Saanich police rushed Sharon and her mother to hospital. Her father, a salesman, was making calls on behalf of his firm.

Waterfront Strike On

NEW YORK (AP)—Longshoremen announced shortly after noon today that a strike in New York and 11 other east coast ports was "on," to take effect at midnight tonight.

Disclosure of his plan to make a report on the international situation came after he was asked whether disclosure of Russian ability to produce the so-called hydrogen bomb would affect defense expenditures in this country.

Forsaken-Looking Shop Proves Enchanting When Once Inside

Miss Elizabeth Forbes, women's editor of the Victoria Daily Times, is visiting Japan as guest of their Excellencies Hon. R. W. and Mrs. Mayhew at the Canadian Embassy in Tokyo. This is one of a series of articles describing her experiences and impressions.

By BESSIE FORBES

It was a narrow, twisting street of old Kyoto homes (weathered brown wood and distinctive tiled roofs). And the little shop, tucked into a crevasse between two of the houses looked poor, unpainted and almost forsaken.

But when the rice paper door was pushed back and Yochi ushered us inside, it was a different story. For this was the shop where Mr.

We spent a little time in quiet talk. About the relative values of good prints... the best artists, dead and alive. And how Mr. Kondo first became interested in the art.

He told us it had been planned that he learn the silk industry. But his father had a collection of old prints that he had learned to love from his childhood. One day, as he was nearing manhood, he perched an article about one of these prints... and being young and venturesome, decided to send it to an art magazine in Japan. It was accepted and printed with his picture, and his name.
